RING STILL MAY BE OPERATING

U.S. Spies Stole Secrets for Direct Transmission to Moscow

This is the first article in a series by Elizabeth Bentley, an admitted former Soviet spy courier, whose testimony naming 37 persons as agents in Red networks operating in the U. S. has been labeled entirely accurate by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

By ELIZABETH BENTLEY
North American Newspaper Alliance

NEW YORK—The names of Harry Dexter White, William Ludwig Ullman, Harold Glasser and other persons identified with a Soviet espionage ring whose tentacles were deep inside the United States government have been appearing in the nation's headlines. The disclosures at long last are being brought with the impact they deserve to the attention of the American people.

The knowledge of the insidious operations of the Soviet spy network comes understandably as a brutal shock to millions of Americans. The question naturally arises whether it is true that vital American secrets, information upon which depended the nation's security and safety, were actually passed with such impunity and such great volume to Soviet agents by persons in positions of trust and importance in the U. S. government.

I can attest that they were. I know this not as a matter of conjecture or from second-hand information. I know it because I was one of the most important cogs in the Russian spy system which operated—and probably still is operating—in the U. S.

It was my job, indeed my "duty," during the decade I was a member of the Soviet underground, to collect stolen secrets from American agents and transmit them directly to representatives of the Russian secret police here. These American agents were everywhere. In the most sensitive wartime bureaus, in the Army, the Air Force, the State Department, the Treasury Department, the White House itself.

These agents, men like Harry Dexter White, Lauchlin

Currie, Victor Perlo, Maurice Halperin, Nathan Gregory Silvermaster and others, were not professional paid spies. They were men who knowingly—or with minds deliberately closed against recognition of this knowledge—acted as spies on "ideological" grounds.

I saw the documents they stole. I listened to the secret information they transmitted verbally. I collected the Communist party dues from many of them. I brought them their orders from the Soviet superiors. I was the watchdog set over them to keep them in line and to spur them on to greater espionage activity.

As I look back upon this turbulent, terrible, misguided phase of my life, even I find it hard to believe how important was the information I funneled into the espionage channels that led directly to Moscow.

I recall how on one occasion, the very tone of international relations between the United States and Russia was affected by my underground work. It was during World War II, when the United States was supplying the sinews of war and astronomical sums of money to the Russians.

In one of my bi-weekly meetings with Silvermaster, who headed one of the two major spy groups I "controlled," he reported to me that he had a message from Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Harry Dexter White. White, he said, had informed him that Treasury Secretary Morgenthau was unhappy and disgruntled with the reception Moscow was giving the gigantic American lend-lease effort.

"Those damn Russians don't seem to appreciate what we are doing," White quoted Morgenthau.

White told Silvermaster that it was of the utmost importance that Morgenthau be placated, that this powerful official of the U. S. government be kept in a re-

Rev. Buckley, Former Mayor Of Marion, Dies

Held Christian Church Pastorates Here and In Other Communities

Rev. Martin Luther Buckley, 86, a former Marion pastor and mayor of the city from 1924 to 1926, died Saturday night in City Hospital after an illness of several years. His home was at 454 Bellefontaine Ave. He was pastor of Central Christian Church here from Sept. 15, 1918, to 1923.

Born Oct. 24, 1867, in Henry County, on a farm near Napoleon, he was a son of John Christian Buckley and Greszenia Buchele Buckley, natives of Wurtemberg, Germany. June 1, 1899, at Port Jefferson, O., he married Jessie Erick of Rushsylvania who died Oct. 26, 1936, in Marion.

Traveled Abroad
After attending Ohio Northern University at Ada and Hiram College at Hiram, O., where he was graduated in 1894, he traveled abroad. He was ordained into the ministry of the Christian Church in 1892 by the president of Hiram College, Rev. Zollars.

His travels in Europe included tours of England, Ireland, Scotland, and France, and he gave many stereoscopic lectures on Westminster Abbey on his return to this country. Following his retirement from the active ministry, he did work in evangelism throughout the state and worked for the old Ohio Anti-Saloon League as a public speaker. At one time he was active in Kiwanis Club, Chamber of Commerce, and other civic organizations.

Pastorates Served
Churches which he served as pastor were at Rushsylvania, Harrison, O., Cleveland, Grand Rapids, Mich., Fort Wayne, Indiana, and Marion. Greatly interested in archaeological study, he gave lectures on this science, using it in proof of facts of biblical history. He maintained special interest in missions in Africa by supporting two native missionaries in the Belgian Congo. Out of doors hobbies were growing flowers and gardening.

He was a member of Central Christian Church. At the time of his death, of the Men's Bible Class of the church, of Marion Lodge 70, F. and A. M., of Marion Commandery 36, Knights Templar, of Kadgar Grotto, of Lydia Chapter 83, Eastern Star, and of the Odd Fellows Lodge.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Dorothy Grace Buckley who is a teacher at the Olney Avenue School, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Treece of Bellefontaine. Five

Britain Leader To Spend Busy 79th Birthday

Churchill Enters 80th Year With Hope for Lasting World Peace

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill reached his 79th birthday today, bearing on his bowed old shoulders the rising hopes of the British people for a lasting peace with Russia.

The grand old statesman arranged a day of business as usual. He called a morning session of his Cabinet and planned to spend many hours at his desk tying up the loose ends of government affairs before departing tomorrow night by plane for the Big Three meeting in Bermuda.

A family dinner party was arranged for tonight at No. 10 Downing St., the Prime Minister's official residence, followed by a small reception for friends and government ministers.

That was his sole concession to the passing of another milestone in his long and fabulous life.

"Some Birthday, Some Man" was the jubilant banner headline on the Daily Express, owned by Churchill's old buddy in peace and war, Lord Beaverbrook.

"He sets forth into the 80th year of his life without thought of turning from his labor to enjoy the tranquility of old age," the inde-

Union Leaders And Publishers Reach Accord

NEW YORK (AP)—An agreement has been reached in a photo-engravers strike that has closed six major New York City newspapers and it will be submitted to a union membership meeting this afternoon, the New York Times said.

The Times, one of the six struck papers, posted this notice on the door of the Times Bldg: "It is expected that agreement reached last night between publishers and photo engravers' committees will be presented to union membership today. The Times will publish an edition at the earliest possible moment. You are requested to be available immediately for work."

The notice was over the name of Julius Ochs Adler, general manager of the Times.

State Unveils '54 Program On Highways

$118 Million Worth of Projects Slated; Ohio Council Begins Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state highway department today unveiled its most ambitious highway program—118 million dollars worth of road projects it plans for next year.

The new state highway construction council today started studying the list of projects for all sections of the state.

Total Lowered

The department originally announced the highway program would amount to 124 million dollars but lowered the total after it discovered an error in its arithmetic.

Here's where the money for the program will come from: 67 million dollars in estimated funds available to the construction council.

32 million dollars of federal matching funds, including 19 millions for federal urban work, of which about 11 millions are carry-overs from 1953.

Seven million dollars in estimated matching funds available from local governments.

12 million dollars in funds available for regular state highway projects not on major thoroughfares.

By law the construction council can only spend money on the major thoroughfare system. It recently designated 6,200 miles of existing roads as major thoroughfares, making them eligible for work done with construction council funds.

Future Projects Included

The huge report, which covered 68 pages, also listed projects for which plans could be drawn next year and which could be under construction the following year.

Ordinarily the highway department spends from 40 to 43 million dollars a year on roads. This year's figure will approach the 70 million dollar figure, because the Legislature made 15 million dollars more available for roads and the federal government matched that with another 15 million dollars.

In addition, there are numerous projects which might be classified as being in the "thinking stage"—with no plans drawn or right-of-way bought.

Bulk of the projects would be financed with highway construction council money. The council expects to have about 67 million dollars for work on major Ohio thoroughfares next year. The money will come from the recent additional one-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax and the ton-mile axle tax on trucks.

More Funds First Year

The money available from these sources for next year will be more than in future years because money collected during the last part of this year has not been spent, and will be used in 1954.

The highway department said recently it would have plans ready by the end of the year for from 80 to 90 million dollars worth of work. Many of the projects won't be ready for contract letting until the second half of next year, and the plans for those jobs are expected to be ready then.

In some cases, plans are well

Parade Floats Depict Biblical Scenes

CHRISTMAS WAS IN THE AIR Saturday as the annual Christmas Pageant marked the beginning of the holiday season. Marion Churches cooperated with the Chamber of Commerce to help make the annual parade a success. Theme of the pageant was "Peace on Earth."

UPPER LEFT: Members of the Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church made one of the floats in the parade. Title of the float was "Glory to God."

UPPER RIGHT: Some 8,000 to 10,000 persons watched the parade go by, according to police department estimates. Many are shown here at the corner of Main and Center Streets.

LOWER LEFT: Santa Claus was not forgotten as he was greeted enthusiastically by the children after the parade. He had some difficulty moving around because of the number of youngsters who wanted to get a close look at him.

LOWER RIGHT: "The Prophecies" was the title of the float prepared by the Wesley Methodist Church. It was one of nine floats entered by churches in the city.

Senate, Canada Hit Snag Over Gouzenko Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—With Senate probers and Canada at a temporary impasse today over the questioning of Igor Gouzenko, political crossfire drummed on with a Democratic blast that the Harry Dexter White case was camouflage for a "serious situation" in the Justice Department.

The Senate internal security subcommittee headed by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) apparently was faced with a take it or leave it proposition: question Gouzenko on Canada's terms or not at all.

Secretary of State Dulles told the committee Saturday that the Canadian government was right in insisting that it, and not the committee decide what part of Gouzenko's testimony should be made public. That's what the United States would do in a similar situation, he said.

Jenner said he would take it up with the subcommittee at a meeting Wednesday. He declined to say

This was the third consecutive year the parade was based on a religious theme. Title of the pageant this year was "Peace on Earth."

Charge Reds With Korean War Crimes

Lodge Prepares Bitter Indictment as Byrnes Opens Second Attack

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States bitterly arraigned the Communist world in the United Nations today for fearful atrocities in Korea and for forcibly holding back World War II prisoners.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U. S. delegate, was prepared to back up the precedent-setting atrocity charges with the longest speech of his career as head of the U. S. delegation, in the full General Assembly.

Seeks Prisoners' Release

On a second front, South Carolina's Gov. James F. Byrnes went into the 60-nation Social Welfare Committee for another effort to shake loose German, Italian and Japanese prisoners missing behind the Iron Curtain for eight years. The U. N. wants to find out at least whether they died in the hands of the Soviets or their satellites.

The U. S. delegation made public here Saturday night part of the Defense Department's detailed listing of 29,815 atrocity cases in Korea. The listing covered cases up to last June 30, including 6,113 American soldiers, more than 5,000 other U. N. military personnel, and 17,354 Korean civilians. The identity of 839 other victims could not be determined, the Americans said.

The United States documents given the Assembly members covered eight incidents involving hundreds of victims. They recited mass torture and beatings, mass killings by burp-gun spraying at short range, buildings fired to burn the inhabitants alive, live burials, and death marches.

Affidavits Cite Atrocities

Affidavits from survivors and eyewitnesses recited horrifying details that went beyond mistreatment, bad food, and lack of medical care.

Much of the testimony dealt with treatment of prisoners by North Koreans when the Communists retreated north in September, 1950.

One U. S. soldier, Pfc. Allen J. Gifford of Pemberton, N. J., said Russians in civilian dress took photographs of his group. Gifford was one of the survivors of a series of mass killings near Sochon tunnel, when prisoners waiting for their meal of rice were shot down at close range.

Spokesmen for Britain, France, Australia and Turkey were to take the rostrum after Lodge to add their appeals for an Assembly resolution, sponsored by all of them, asking condemnation of such atrocities.

Dean in turn offered the Reds a compromise plan to let Russia sit in on the conference as a "third party" with full voting privileges.

Dean's suggestion was a revision of earlier U.N. demands that a conference include only the two belligerent sides with Russia on the Communist side if she attends. However, an Allied spokesman said:

"We expect the law of gravity will operate to take care of that situation and we would not be surprised if Russia would show up as the chief spokesman for the Communists."

Both sides agreed to take a day off to study the new proposals.

Grandmother Says She Penned Letter Rejected by POW

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP)—A Richmond grandmother said last night she wrote one of the letters rejected by balking American prisoners of the Korean War because they charged the letters amounted to "coercion."

"What a nerve!" said Mrs. Edna Storeby, a former schoolteacher. "If they call my letter 'coercion,' what do they call what the Reds have been doing?"

Mrs. Storeby said she wrote to Sgt. Andrew Fortuna of Ionia, Mich., because "I just wanted to tell him that the Communists are selling a pack of lies."

"I wrote about everything from the Michigan State football team to the advantages of living in America.

"I talked like a mother. I wrote what they could expect living under the Communists. I advised them to pray and ask for guidance and strength to reach the right decision—to come home."

"Is that coercion?"

Christmas Show Slated At London Prison Farm

The annual Christmas show staged by the inmates of the London Prison Farm will be presented to the general public Dec. 8, 9, 10 and 11. Curtain time is 8 p.m. each night.

The first portion of the program will be a minstrel show, after which there will be 12 variety acts. The cast of approximately 80 inmates, under the direction of officer Charles B. Buchler, will present skits, singing, dancing, tumbling, magic and musical numbers, with special selections by the Rhythm Lads and a 15-piece institution orchestra.

Tickets are priced at $1 and proceeds will be used to obtain athletic equipment and other recreational material for the rehabilitation programs at the London Prison Farm.

Musical director of the show is Andrew R. Groat, and musical arrangements are by Steve Yourieff, both members of the Rhythm Lads.

Actress Susan Ball Back In Hospital, Breaks Leg

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Susan Ball is back in a hospital bed again and this time her off-injured right leg is broken. Her dog tipped over his drinking water Saturday and the pretty 22-year-old brunette slipped on the wet spot.

It was the same leg she injured while dancing for a movie scene a year ago and then hurt again in an automobile accident last February. Following the first injury a growth developed which was diagnosed as Ewing's tumor, a form of cancer. Miss Ball refused to permit amputation although it was advised.

"After a year on crutches, I was all ready to go back to work," she said. "And now this happens."

She said her studio had promised her parts for her in two forthcoming films.

The actress, the "Champagne Girl" of a generation ago, spent the day quietly with visiting friends. She was on the stage for 50 years before her retirement in 1939. She came out of retirement for a stint on the stage during World War II.

Once the toast of New York, London, Paris and Budapest, Miss Friganza lives at Flintridge Academy of the Sacred Heart, a Catholic convent school in the hills overlooking Pasadena. A victim of arthritis, she is confined to bed and a wheelchair.

LINCOLN PROVES ITS SUPERIORITY, OUTPERFORMS ALL COMPETITORS IN STOCK CAR FIELD—WINS 7 OUT OF FIRST 10 PLACES

Stock car champions of the Mexican Pan-American Race last year, Lincolns again captured 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th places this year. In fact, in a field of more than 50, seven of ten prize-winners were Lincolns.

Called the toughest automotive test in the world, the route of this 1,912-mile race covers every kind of highway. From Tuxtla Gutierrez near Mexico's southern boundary to Ciudad Juarez across the Texas border from El Paso, the route climbs steep mountain grades, turns, twists, curves its ways through foothills and winds up over long flat stretches of desert highway. Road elevations range from near sea-level to more than 10,000 feet. In every driving situation, Lincoln proved itself superior—a great tribute to the precision engineering and rugged stamina of its 205-hp V-8, the easy handling and steering control of its proven ball-joint front suspension, and the stability and road-holding qualities of the great Lincoln chassis.

And now a new Lincoln is on the way — the new 1954 Lincoln. It is more luxurious than ever. Its handling qualities, roadability — yes, even its famous V-205 hp engine — have been improved. You'll want to see this great new Lincoln, Thursday, December 3rd. And even more, you'll want to drive it. See for yourself why Lincoln alone is the one fine car designed for modern living — powered for modern driving — and twice-proved in the world's toughest road race.

Eight Traffic Mishaps Occur Over Weekend

No Injuries Reported;
Drivers in Collision
On Route 23 Arrested

No persons were injured in eight accidents in Marion County over the weekend. Seven of the accidents were reported by city police. The other was investigated by highway patrolmen from the Marion post.

In the accident reported by patrolmen, both drivers were issued citations after investigation. Mike Ferrell, 40, of Dearborn, Mich., and Henry Terechenock, 19, of Detroit, Mich., were the drivers. Their cars were involved in a collision on U. S. Route 23, five miles north of Marion, Sunday at 6:25 p.m.

Patrol reports show Ferrell was traveling north and attempting to make a left turn into a state park when Terechenock tried to pass on the left side. Minor damage was done to both cars when they collided.

Ferrell was cited to appear in Municipal Court to answer a charge of failing to signal a left turn. Terechenock was cited to appear on a charge of failing to signal his intention of passing. Both were ordered to appear in court Saturday.

Two Hit-Skip Accidents

Two of seven minor traffic accidents investigated over the weekend by city police were hit skips.

One occurred at 9:50 a.m. Sunday when a car parked in front of his residence and owned by Ralph Krane of 384 S. Prospect St. was struck by an unidentified car which sped off without stopping. Krane reported the accident at the police station and said the left rear fender of his car was damaged.

The other hit-skip occurred between 7 and 10:30 p.m. Saturday in the 100 block on E. Center St. An unidentified car struck a car parked in front of the City Furniture Mart owned by Bryan B. Stalter, 55, of 330 Homer St. The left front fender and left door of his car were damaged.

Cars driven by John Spire, 17, of 466 Davids St. and Richard L. Short, 19, of 589 Silver St. were damaged in a collision at W. Church St. and Blaine Ave. at 8:36 a.m. this morning.

The front end of a car driven by Alvin E. Franklin, 23, of 824 Davids St. was extensively damaged at 9:54 p.m. yesterday when it struck the rear of a car driven by Harrietta E. Blankenship of Bucyrus. The mishap occurred at W.

VIEW OF MOSCOW SLUM AREA. This picture of a slum area about 100 yards behind the American Embassy in Moscow was taken about mid-afternoon two weeks ago by Zander Hollander, former University of Michigan student editor just returned from a trip to Russia. A postwar apartment building may be seen in the background.

Center and Campbell Sts. Damage also resulted to the rear of Miss Blankenship's car, police said.

A truck driven by Vernon E. Ulery, 33, of near Marion and a car driven by Louis W. Keefer, 33, of 333 Blaine Ave. were damaged in a mishap in the 400 block on Blaine Ave. at 9:02 a.m. yesterday.

Cars driven by Walter W. Webster, 31, of 329 Park Blvd. and Thomas Murphy, 40, of Dearborn, Mich., were damaged in an accident at S. Main and Hill Sts. at 1:45 p.m. yesterday.

The left front of a car driven by John P. McEntire, 42, of 591 Miami St. and right side of car driven by Albert G. Zacharias, 33, of near Marion were damaged in a mishap in the 100 block on S. Main St. at 8:40 a.m. Saturday.

Union Seeking Compromise, Official Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union said today it is willing to compromise its demands in the 29-day old strike against North American Aviation, Inc., here, but that the company too must make concessions.

Columbus Local 927 of the union made the statement as company and union representatives prepared to resume top level negotiations again in Los Angeles this afternoon. North American plants in California also are affected by the strike.

A union spokesman quoted Elmer Adkins, president of the local, as saying: "We are going to have to compromise, but we think compromise has to come in both directions."

The union statement followed one made yesterday by J. H. Kindelberger, chairman of the board of North American, that there is no prospect of a quick settlement of the strike as long as the union persists in what he called "impossible demands."

Historic Mistakes

Secretary of State Dulles has confirmed Vice President Nixon's remark in Tokyo that it was a mistake to disarm Japan after World War II.

The remark has been confirmed also by Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, who directed the postwar disarmament. But the general, like the secretary of state and the vice president, says it seemed like the logical thing to do at the time.

This puts it in the category of historic mistakes — decisions proved wrong by the passage of time though seeming to be right when they were made.

It was a historic mistake to disarm Japan for the same reason that it was a historic mistake to disarm Germany. They were the keys to postwar security against Russian aggression, if the Communist dictatorship decided to be aggressive.

It did decide to be aggressive and thereby caught its wartime allies off balance. The fall of China to the Communists, the absorption of the Balkan and Baltic states, the costly war in Korea and the burden of a costly rearmament program all can be charged to the same error. The same mistake was made in the United States. Postwar disarmament was carried too far in the light of what Hitler's Germany was to do.

These errors can be blamed on misplaced faith. It is unlikely the United States ever will make them again.

You Are a Witness

A House probe of social security is under fire by certain Democrats who charge the probe is an attempt to smash the present social security system.

The probe, of course, are replying that this is not true and that they are trying to get the facts about the system into the record with a view to improving social security in the near future.

This should not become a partisan issue because social security is not a partisan policy. And it is a demonstrable fact that the whole matter needs to be viewed and reviewed for the purpose of improving the social security system.

On the necessity for doing this, each citizen can be his own witness.

No major program with bearing on the welfare of millions of people ever has been put into operation in the United States with less discussion and less comprehension.

Most of its beneficiaries do not know their rights. Scarcely anyone understands the financial operation of the plan, and of the few who do understand it there is sharp disagreement about it.

Congress is bombarded with proposals for improving the system and extending its coverage yet is not fortified with factual material about it. Every thorough study of the system has produced recommendations for sweeping changes.

It has been 18 years since Congress enacted the Social Security Act of 1935, the beginning of the present system. There has been no thorough review of the issues which have arisen under the law.

The House investigators are belatedly compiling a record for the guidance of their associates.

Give a Tax a Bad Name

Truer words were never spoken than Speaker Joseph W. Martin's prediction that Congress will not enact a general sales tax. Speaker Martin has been in the House of Representatives a long time and knows how these things work.

He knows a tax can be given a bad name. That has happened to the sales tax. He knows a tax can be given a better name, which would happen if a general sales tax were called a manufacturers' tax.

Sales taxes supplied the bulk of federal revenue through the greater part of the country's history. Income taxes are relatively recent. The best modern thought on taxation is that a balance should be sought between income taxes and excise taxes.

Thus, ability to pay would be combined with revenue geared to the rate of consumer purchasing. If it is desirable to do this it then becomes desirable to spread excise taxation more equitably over the whole field of goods produced for consumption.

Canada has done this satisfactorily for more than a third of a century. Thirty-two states and the District of Columbia have collected general sales taxes with satisfactory results. The results have been so satisfactory, in fact, they raise the question of whether or not the federal government should be permitted to move any further into a field being tilted so efficiently by the states.

It is not, of course, a question of excluding the federal government, which now collects more than half a hundred excise taxes yielding about 10 billion dollars a year.

When Speaker Martin excludes a general sales tax, he does not exclude a selective sales tax, nor does he exclude a general sales tax under some other name.

Evidence by Wire-Tapping

By James Marlow

Brownell Asks Congress Make It Admissible

WASHINGTON (U) — The Eisenhower administration is asking Congress to change the law on wire-tapping. The reason: to help the government bring alleged spies to trial.

Congress does not return until January. But already there is argument on the rightness or wrongness of the administration's request, made by Atty. Gen. Brownell.

This is the background: There is a federal law on wire-tapping, passed by Congress in 1934, which says "no person, not being authorized by the sender, shall intercept any communication and divulge or publish the existence, contents, substance, purport, effect or meaning of such intercepted communication to any person."

Key word in the sentence is "and." The sentence says wires can't be tapped—and—the information made public, such as in a federal court trial of the person whose wire has been tapped.

The law has nothing to do with state or city statutes on wire tapping, so what is said here applies to federal courts.

The Supreme Court, in a couple of decisions, has ruled:

1. Wiretap information can't be used in court to convict anyone.

2. Even if the government uses wire taps only for leads in gathering further information, this information can't be used in court to convict anyone.

But one attorney general after another, including Brownell, has interpreted the law as permitting wiretapping by the government even though the wiretap information cannot later be used at a trial.

For that reason, the FBI has tapped wires of alleged spies and, perhaps, others, Deputy Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers has frankly said the government has been tapping wires at least since 1840.

It is hardly a secret that the FBI tapped wires of some of the government employees alleged to have been spying for Russia, during the Roosevelt-Truman administrations. But the law prohibits using this kind of information in court.

The Eisenhower administration is asking Congress to change the law just a bit. That is, not only to permit the FBI to continue tapping wires but to allow use of such evidence in court in cases involving national security.

National security is a wide term and might in the future turn out to mean much more than espionage, although spies may be all the Eisenhower administration has in mind now.

And, under the change asked by Brownell, the kind of information which could be used in a trial would be obtained only when the attorney general, Brownell or a successor, approved.

Some people, concerned about this addition to federal power, oppose the proposed change on the grounds that:

1. This is just one more step toward widening the authority of the federal government to intrude in any individual's privacy.

2. It may result in abuses. For example: hurting an innocent person by making public his conversation on a tapped phone with a man he considered a friend or acquaintance, never realizing he was a spy.

But it seems clear that, whether or not the government ever gets congressional permission to use wiretapped information in court, it will continue under the present law to tap wires where it thinks necessary.

Brownell Studies McCarthy Moves

By Edward K. Nellor

WASHINGTON — Justice Department officials, including Attorney General Herbert Brownell, met in a top-level policy conference the morning after Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's television answer to former President Harry S. Truman.

Brownell and his aides went over the McCarthy speech line by line, looking for clues to his next move, evaluating the evidence he listed in his attack against several Reds. Brownell, like his Democratic predecessor in the office of attorney general, is stumped over where the Wisconsin senator obtains his information. As a political document the assembled Justice Department officials had no quarrel with McCarthy's speech.

A GROUP of Canadian anti-Communists wired Senator McCarthy's office in Washington after his TV speech that they had dispatched a basket of northern spies to his office—meaning Canadian spy apples.

WHITE HOUSE aides are saying that President Eisenhower was misunderstood when he expressed his hope that communism in government would be a dead issue by 1954. The President, it is explained, meant that he felt all Communists would be driven off the federal payroll by that time as a result of his new loyalty program; not that past mistakes in handling the problem should be overlooked.

The facts are that Mr. Eisenhower is tired of being badgered at press conferences with questions concerning Communists, a subject about which he knows very little and with which he has had no time to get acquainted.

The President does not think individual spy-hunting should be the responsibility of the President, that it is relatively minor in comparison to decisions he is called on to make in relation to Russia and other foreign nations. Underlying this, recent visitors to the White House say, is the fact that Mr. Eisenhower is still learning his political ABC's, that he is at least one year away from being able to handle political hot potatoes adroitly.

Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark's attitude on testifying before congressional committees regarding his knowledge of Truman administration affairs has Republican politicians biting their nails in frustration.

Well-laid plans to probe the previous administration's handling of tax payments, 5 per cent centers and political spoils set for the eve of the 1954 elections are up in the air because of Clark's refusal to budge.

So far there is no strong public opinion one way or the other regarding the Supreme Court justice's stand. GOP plans now are to smoke out Clark, label him, along with former President Truman, as a privileged politician, enjoying a special kind of Fifth Amendment immunity by refusing to testify.

BUSINESSMEN are banking on a quiet spring, usual time for an outbreak of labor demands for higher wages, strikes. Reason: Since January 1952 the cost-of-living index has gone up only 1.9 per cent; in the same period, the average hourly earning of workers has gone up 9.2 per cent. In 1952 the national income increased by $21,000,000,000; labor's compensation in the same period increased $18,500,000,000.

SEN. JOHN BRICKER (R., O.) is in for a scrap when Congress reconvenes in January. Bricker, chairman of the powerful Senate committee on interstate and foreign commerce, is cool toward the idea of an investigation of the U. S. airline industry.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R., Ky.), originally assigned to the airline probe subcommittee, has been getting a cold shoulder from Bricker whenever the subcommittee is mentioned. Cooper won't withdraw quietly, however, plans to take his problems to the Democratic policy committee first thing when the new session opens. Cooper is convinced the airline situation needs an airing, has persuaded a number of Democrats in the Senate who are friendly to Bricker to speak to the Ohioan about the subject. Best bet: A short-lived probe.

A LOT of things happened when Adlai Stevenson unbundled himself in a speech in Georgia that is widely interpreted as his opening bid for the Democrat party nomination for the presidency in 1958.

Stevenson served notice on Truman Democrats, by faintly praising the ex-president, that errors of the former administration should be exposed, that party leaders responsible had better be prepared to take a back seat.

Sen. Karl Mundt (R., S. D.), Jensen's declaration of war between liberal Stevenson Democrats and the party's southern bloc, opened the door once again for a wedding with Republicans. Mundt said the GOP should invite southern Democrats to join Republican chairmen, probably as vice chairmen, in a joint partnership during the coming session of Congress. This is a sugar-coated bid to the South to help the GOP embarrass the Truman administration's northern liberals now running the Democrat party, to beat the Stevenson forces to the punch.

Uranium in China

SEN. MIKE MANSFIELD (D., Mont.) won undying affection of Frenchmen on his fact-finding tour of Indo-China. He praised French military, economic and political efforts at a time when French prestige is at a new low. The senator called for continued U. S. military and financial aid to the French, urged Frenchmen to continue the fight until the Communists are convinced that war in Indo-China is fruitless.

A RECENT SURVEY reveals that downtown parking space in most cities is worth its weight in gold paving for the areas used. A study of 18 cities of less than 100,000 population disclosed that the average parking lot netted owners $20,000 annually on the average. In Newton, Mass., a parking lot valued at $10,000 produced more than $20,000 net to its owner; in Modesto, Calif., a lot valued at the same amount netted its owner $54,000 annually.

A GROUP of California friends of Vice President Richard Nixon are needing Washington officials of the GOP to arrange a welcome-home celebration when the vice president returns from his world tour. A number of Hollywood stars have volunteered to be on hand, several have asked the White House and the GOP to help.

Nixon, on the basis of his travels, indicates he is fed up with the howls from certain segments of the U. S. press and radio who rush into print with stories and comments on how badly we are doing in the eyes of foreigners every time a political issue arises in the U. S.

The Vice President's disgust centers on the fact that U. S. writers and commentators who prattle about our prestige in Europe and Asia couldn't possibly know how the average European thinks, since they are not in Europe, have few ways of obtaining reports so soon after an issue is being debated in the U. S. In addition, Nixon would like to point out that foreign newspapers seldom if ever babble about their prestige in the U. S. being damaged over their own internal political squabbles.

If you've only seen the girl around the neighborhood in blue jeans she's as hard to recognize in her wedding dress as her father, the dentist, is without his white coat.

These are jumpy times, so don't be alarmed at what looks at first like a Red Chinese spy. It may merely be a 10-year-old girl with her skirt out over her snowsuit trousers.

Harry Dexter White couldn't have gone too long undetected, as there is something about a man who insists on spelling out his middle name that just naturally excites curiosity.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Elmer Knew It All the Time

Elmer Twitchell, noted scholar, stamp collector and pinocchio player, was never fooled by the Piltown Man. The skull which bamboozled the world for forty years has been shown up as a fake, but Elmer, a real sharpie in such things, could have exposed Old Piltownie anytime.

"I just didn't want to go out of my way to knock him," he explains. "I saw him in the museums, newspapers and books," said Mr. Twitchell and knew he was a phony.

"I never looked at the skull without wanting to slug the professors who said the creep was perhaps my earliest ancestor. I was always prepared to admit my ancestors might be hard on the eyes, but I was also always ready to invite outside anybody who tried to say I had one who looked as bad as that, even a few hundred thousand years ago."

"Have you heard that the apes resented it all along, too?" we asked.

"Sure they did," said Elmer. "Most of the hard feeling between the apes and humans over the last forty years has been due to what the apes took as a slur on them."

They didn't think even the early apes were as ugly as the Piltown Man. The Piltown Man, in fact, have been responsible for all the ill feeling that has come over the world. It may explain much of the hate.

We admitted that the profile, the sloping chin, the receding forehead and the general expression on the Piltown Man's mug wasn't very flattering to the human race, even allowing for changes over 500,000 years, and certainly not probable over the last 50,000.

"The Piltown Man always looked to me like something out of Walt Disney, Rube Goldberg, the Eden Waxworks, the early dreams of P. T. Barnum and a Martin & Lewis video sketch," declared Elmer.

"Can you fix the blame for the hoax?" we asked Mr. Twitchell.

"If it all happened within the past few years I would attribute it to some TV puppet showman, whodunit producer, the men who design masks for department store Kris Kringles, a Saroyan idea executed on the Omnibus program," he replied, "but this Piltown Man made his debut away back before life got so cockeyed."

"Do you think the late Charles Dawson, the English lawyer and amateur geologist, who unearthed the Piltown skull in 1911, knew it was all for the birds?" we asked.

"I am deep enough in probes without going into that," said Elmer. "What I regret is that the hoax has made it so tough for anybody who comes up with a skull anywhere now and thinks he has something."

I have dug up bones and skulls very recently, and here's a list, but who will believe me? Whereupon Elmer handed us the following:

The Chippedown Man: Resolute chin, broad fearless forehead, strong features in general. (Very rare specimen of 1933 to 1953 man who has guts to call a spade a spade, testify anywhere fearlessly and let the politicians go jump in the lake.)

The Showdown Woman: Feet bones show fallen arches; arms over-sized and battered; all-gone expression about eyes. (Believed to be the modern chainstore type striving to make both ends meet and feed the family fairly well.)

The Stackblown Man: Jaw defiant; plenty of cheek; expression denotes shattered nerves, extreme irascibility. (If we could locate his driving license we could positively identify him as a twentieth century autoist.)

Examination Now Required for Ohio Chauffeurs' Tags

New regulations governing the procedure used in obtaining chauffeur's licenses were made public today. The regulations will be enforced Tuesday throughout the state.

Making the announcement here was Cpl. D. M. Dewalt, commander of the Marion post of the state highway patrol. He said the new rules require persons holding regular operators' licenses and wishing to change them to chauffeurs' licenses, must pass a regular examination.

In the past, no test was given to anyone converting an operators' license to a chauffeurs' license. About 60,000 to 80,000 made the change last year.

The new examination for the chauffeurs' license will be in the form of both a written and road test, including a vision test. Those who fail the vision test will be advised to consult an eye specialist before returning to take a second test.

Those who fail the written or road tests may return for a retest at a later date. Those who are found totally incompetent by the examiner will face the possibility of having their operators' license revoked.

Cpl. Dewalt said the new regulations are an effort to remove unqualified drivers from the road. Qualified motorists, applying for a chauffeurs' license, have nothing to fear, he added.

Those who do not have an operators' license, and apply for a chauffeurs' license, must pass the requirements in effect for both licenses.

The new regulations will be administered by the driver examiner section of the state highway patrol.

California Testing Pay-as-You-See Home Television

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — If you were a Telemeter subscriber here, you could put $1 in your TV coin box and see "The Moon Is Blue" on your home screen tonight.

The citizens of this sunny resort are taking part in an experiment which could change the whole course of American entertainment. Telemeter, of which Paramount owns 50 per cent, has plunked down $750,000 in an attempt to prove that pay-as-you-see TV is economically sound.

So far only 70 of this town's 10,851 souls are equipped with Telemeter. By putting a certain amount of coins in a little machine on their TV sets, they can see the latest movies and events like the USC-Notre Dame football game, which started the service Saturday.

Telemeter reports that 90 per cent of the town's 500 set owners have asked for the coin box. They will be installed at the rate of 50 a week.

Watching TV here is not cheap. Telemeter brought TV here via wire. Set owners are charged for a cable to their homes, plus $5 a month. A range of mountains blocks direct reception of telecasts from Los Angeles. Telemeter subscribers pay $21.75 to have a coin box installed and must take a minimum of $3 monthly in pay programs.

Futile Rescue Try By Jon Lindbergh To Save Skier Told

MT. SHASTA, Calif. (AP)—Fellow mountain climbers told today of the desperate but futile efforts of Jon Lindbergh and others to save a Swiss skier who tumbled 800-feet down treacherous Mt. Shasta.

Edgar Werner Hopf, 31-year-old electronics engineer, died early yesterday after he had been administered artificial respiration for 11 hours.

Young Lindbergh, shy, 20-year-old son of the famed flier, Charles A. Lindbergh, was the leader of a group of Stanford University climbers.

Hopf, on skis, lost his footing at the 10,500-foot level Saturday. "No one saw Hopf fall," said Gail Gilbert, 18, a member of the party. "But they saw him flashing down in a shower of snow. Jon and another student, Vlado Kavalik, jumped out onto the sheer ice and tried to stop him, but they missed."

They found Hopf at the end of an 800-foot blood-stained trail. He died of head and internal injuries in a snow-block igloo. The body was brought down the mountain.

Lindbergh and the seven others reported the tragedy to Coroner Lloyd B. Noble, then publicity-shy Jon slipped away to Palo Alto, where he is a major in marine biology at Stanford, before reporters could talk with him.

In Memory

Of son and brother, Carl Emerson Depriest who passed away November 30, 1937.

Why should our tears in sorrow flow

When God recalls his own,
And bids them leave a world of woe,

For an immortal crown?
Some day in yonder distant land
Far above the starry sky,
We'll meet again to part no more
And we'll never say good-bye.

Doctor's Kit Stolen, Found Along Road

Theft and recovery of a doctor's kit bag worth some $150 was reported today by city police and the Marion County sheriff's department.

Theft of the bag was reported to police at 10:15 p.m. Friday by Dr. J. W. Bull. The bag had been stolen from his car sometime between 7 and 10 p.m. while the car was parked at the rear of the Smith Clinic.

At about 4 p.m. Sunday, Michael Campbell of 197 Franconia Ave. spotted the bag lying along the side of County Road 94 and turned it in to sheriff's deputies who in turn notified city police of the recovery.

Police said today that only a small amount of medicine was missing from the bag. Investigation of the theft is being continued by city police.

Emanuel Church Is Host
600 Luther Leaguers
Attend Convention Here

Nearly 600 Luther Leaguers from four states were in Marion over the weekend to attend the 22nd annual convention of Luther Leaguers of the Ohio District.

The district includes Alabama, Indiana and Kentucky, besides Ohio. Emanuel Lutheran Church was host church for the convention, and the members entertained the visitors in their homes here during the three-day meeting.

Besides delegates from the four states in the district, a guest leaguer from Florida attended. Theme of the convention was "Share Christ."

AMONG OHIO YOUNG people elected to office was a Marion girl, Miss Barbara Barnhart of 554 Mt. Vernon Ave., a freshman at Capital University at Columbus. She was elected secretary.

Bernell Boehm of Jenera, O., a pre-seminary student at Capital University, was elected president; Gene Fogt of Sidney, a Capital University freshman, was re-elected vice president; and George Troutman, a senior at Circleville High School, was elected treasurer.

A social highlight of the convention was a banquet Saturday night at Harding High School where a capacity crowd was entertained. The theme of the convention was carried out, with miniature figures in authentic costumes representing the various countries of the world decorating the tables.

Rev. Otto Ebert, president of the Ohio District, was the speaker.

ON SUNDAY MORNING, the speaker at Emanuel Church was Rev. Paul C. Temple of New York City, executive director of the National Lutheran Council. Preceding the worship hour, the host pastor, Rev. M. E. Hollensen, taught the Sunday School lesson to the entire adult department.

During the convention, recreational facilities of the new educational unit of the host church were put to use, and a visit to the new Marion YMCA was included. The keynote speaker Friday afternoon at the opening session was Rev. John Auer of Greenville. Convention business was in charge of Richard Fowler of Cleveland, Luther League district president. On Friday night a candlelight vesper service was held with Rev. Hollensen preaching.

SATURDAY'S SCHEDULE included morning devotions, an address by Rev. Henry Hoeman, executive director of evangelism of the Lutheran Church, and project clinics.

Afternoon speaker was Prof. Robert Spieler of the seminary at Capital University. Preparations for the convention were made by the more than 60 members of the Emanuel Church Luther League of which Mrs. L. G. Jones is sponsor.

Rhee Seeking
United Front
Against Reds

SEOUL (AP)—Details of the secret talks between Syngman Rhee and Chiang Kai-shek began unfolding today with a South Korean invitation to the free nations of Asia to form a united anti-Communist front.

South Korean Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai said plans for such a union were started last weekend in the Formosa meeting of the Presidents of South Korea and Nationalist China.

"The offer is open to the free nations in Asia to sponsor a conference to materialize the Rhee-Chiang plan," Pyun said in an interview. "We are waiting for response."

There has been speculation that Rhee and Chiang were forming a two-party alliance to oppose communism, but Pyun's invitation indicated a much broader program.

Pyun said the conference should be held as soon as possible.

He said it could be held in any Asian country—as a sponsor—that has proved it was anti-Communist. Although he did not say so—it was apparent that Pyun would not welcome India at such a conference and also had misgivings about Japan, the strongest industrial nation in Asia.

Pyun noted that Japan has not "outlawed" the Communist party. However, he would not specifically exclude Japan from any parley, he said.

Pyun proposed that the Asian nations draw up political and mutual defense agreements, but made no mention of economic or trade pacts at this time.

Before leaving Formosa yesterday, Rhee spoke out sharply at a news conference.

"Let's fight; you cannot stop communism by talking," he said.

Bentley

ceptive mood towards Russia's unceasing demands for more military equipment, for more funds. Morgenthau, he said, must not become resistant to the unremitting pressure for greater monetary allocations for the Soviet.

White, Silvermaster told me, suggested that it would be a master stroke for Premier Stalin to introduce in one of his speeches an accolade for the work being done by the United States toward winning the war.

This information I passed on to my Soviet "contact" in New York upon my return from Washington. The message was forwarded instantly to Moscow. And in due course, Stalin carried out White's suggestion. Stalin publicly paid tribute to U. S. productivity and the part it was playing in the global struggle against Nazi aggression, and to the importance of the entire lend-lease program.

Morgenthau was placated. Thanks to the Soviet espionage system, one of the most important officials in wartime Washington had been continued in the "attitude" desired by White and required by the Russians.

BUT IT WAS many years after I became a Communist before I was entrusted with such high-level courier work. First, I had to be cast in the Communist mold, blinded by its dogma, enslaved by its discipline. I am telling my story now, revealing never-before-told facts of the Soviet espionage system, to strengthen the alert that is now being sounded across our land. Soviet espionage is not fanciful, haphazard, sporadic or ineffectual.

It is real, factual, effective and terribly, incredibly dangerous.

I was born Elizabeth Terrill Bentley in 1908 in New Milford, Conn., only child of Mary Charlotte Terrill, a school teacher, and Charles Prentiss Bentley, son of a Baptist preacher and a small-time businessman.

Both my parents were Republican; indeed my father was a member of the Republican committee in New Milford. Both were liberal-minded in that they had a strong sense of social justice about society's unfortunate, but they did not believe in any specific "liberal" political doctrine.

AFTER BEING graduated from Vassar, where I majored in English and romance languages, I enrolled for a master's degree at Columbia and then I spent one year studying on a scholarship at the University of Florence in Italy.

Italy was then under the fascist heel and what I saw there inspired in me a burning hatred of fascism. I returned to this country in 1934, in the midst of a major depression. I felt that American democracy was falling apart at the seams, that fascism was a major threat to the U. S.

Eager to do something to combat this menace, I was easy prey for the American League Against War and Fascism, an organization which, although I did not know it at the time, was under the control of the Communist party.

Brought into the league by Miss Lee Fuhr, a nurse studying at Teachers' College, I was gratified that I was now working for justice and humanity. The next step, in retrospect, was inevitable. The pressure brought to bear upon me by members of the league to join the Communist party was irresistible.

I WAS CAJOLED, derided and ostracized for my uncertainty about joining the party. I was made to feel that I was a traitor to my own high ideals if I did not join the only militant group working for social justice.

And so, in March, 1935, more from a desire to conform than from conviction, I joined the party and took the party name of Elizabeth Sherman after one of my colonial ancestors.

Thus I became a Communist to fight the good fight. How startled I would have been had I been told that I had taken the first step toward becoming one of the most important couriers for the Soviet espionage system in the U. S.

Trains Carrying Molten

Steel Collide Killing Two

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two men were killed today and three were injured at a Republic Steel plant when two trains carrying molten steel collided.

Dead were Henry A. Ferris, 27, brakeman, and W. J. Heffelfelder, 23, fireman.

John Aiello, 25, conductor, was reported in serious condition. John lacerations of the right knee, John Butcher, 24, fireman, and Paul McMahon, 30, brakeman, were in fair condition.

The men were in the cab of an engine pushing cars bearing molten steel from the blast furnace to the open hearth. It was overtaken by an engine pulling cars along the same track.

The accident occurred between Cuyahoga River and Independence road near the plant's main gate on tracks of a Republic Steel subsidiary, River Terminal Railway.

Hit Favoritism, Meddling

Treasury Probers Call
For Iron-Clad Tax Laws

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hard and fast laws to prevent Treasury Department favoritism and political meddling in federal tax collections was demanded today by House investigators.

The Ways and Means subcommittee, in the fourth installment today of a final report on two years of investigating tax fraud and irregularities, recommended:

Curb on Authority

1. Enactment of changes in the internal revenue code to curb authority of the secretary of the Treasury over actual administration of the tax laws to "prevent political meddling in the future."

2. Giving the internal revenue commissioner direct authority over tax collections in all matters not involving national fiscal policy.

The report observed: "Corruption, of course, is possible at any level of government, but political influence conceivably would be less strongly felt by career employees of the bureau than by politically appointed Treasury officials."

Would Hold Less Power

"If the Treasury no longer has ultimate control over personnel questions or like matters personally affecting bureau employees, Treasury officials will possess less power to influence what should be impartial administrative decisions in the bureau."

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey announced Nov. 19 that he had delegated full authority to the Internal Revenue Service for handling individual tax cases, while reserving policy decisions to the Treasury. He said it will cut duplication and delay.

This handing down of power, accomplished gradually, gives Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews authority to make final agreements on tax disputes, among other things.

Intervention Cited

The subcommittee referred to its public hearings at which witnesses testified that Treasury officials intervened in individual cases. This, the report said, was "indicative of the abuses which can flow from Treasury control of the decision-making processes in tax cases."

In each case, it said, "the power of Treasury officials was exerted to bestow a special benefit on the taxpayer."

"To terminate the authority of Treasury officials over tax administration would prevent recurrence of such improprieties."

The subcommittee said it had no specific legislation to offer at this time.

Highways

along but right-of-way has not been purchased. The highway department recently speeded up its right-of-way buying program to the tune of millions of dollars to get construction council projects in shape for contract letting.

'Suggested Priority'

The department listed a "suggested priority" for projects in each of its 12 divisions. But the construction council will decide which projects shall be first.

The department's priority is based on how near a project is ready for bid taking, its relative importance and the department's rating on how adequate the present road is to handle traffic today.

Director Samuel O. Linnell in a letter that accompanied the construction program said "it is extremely desirable that we start immediately to establish priorities of construction."

He also noted work should be done now on planning future programs and that the Legislature when it meets Jan. 11 will expect a planning and construction program.

More to Start

The Legislature will implement a $500 million dollar road bond issue approved at the last election. It's unlikely that any bond money construction will begin before 1955 because plans for projects will not be ready until then. A department spokesman says "we'll enter the bond issue program with practically no plans on hand."

Parade

Rev. Harrison Ludwig of the Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church and president of the Marion County Council of Churches, and Miss Margaret Huffman, representing Rev. W. C. Eyster of the Epworth Methodist Church who is social action chairman of the Marion County Ministerial Association.

SANTA SPOKE briefly to the children after the welcoming speeches. He said he was glad to be in Marion and hoped he would be able to see all the children during the next three and one-half weeks.

He said he had already received three letters from children who pressed them into his hands, as he was traveling in the parade.

The crowd of children who milled around Santa at the end of the parade was great. Some climbed onto the wagon where Santa made his speech, asking for some of the candy he was passing out, and trying to get a close look at the whiskered old man.

SANTA THREW CANDY to the children all along the route of the parade.

A delay of about 3 or 4 minutes was caused when a donkey on the Epworth Methodist Church float talked about going into his position. The donkey, which is owned by Charlton Myers, has developed a habit of not moving unless a companion goat precedes him.

The goat was ushered safely and quickly onto the float, but the process was too fast. The donkey, not seeing his lead animal, sat down firmly in the middle of the street. The goat had to be taken off the float, reloaded onto the truck which brought the two animals to the starting point, and then led again onto the float before the donkey would move.

NINE DIFFERENT churches took part in the 1953 pageant. They were: Central Christian Church, Wesley Methodist Church, St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Calvary, Evangelical United Brethren Church, Greenwood Evangelical United Brethren Church, Epworth Methodist Church, Trinity Baptist Church, and First Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Florets were designed and made by members of each congregation. Members of the churches rode on them. Scenes depicted were from the Bible, times, and from modern times.

Drawing the praise of Lautenslager today for their work in helping make the pageant a success were members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the police department, the auxiliary police, and members of the Chamber who did actual physical work in connection with the arrangements.

SANTA WILL BEGIN his regular schedule today. He will spend about one hour each day in some of the stores in town, but will be at the courthouse headquarters most of the time.

Rev. Eyster was the chairman of the social action committee of the Ministerial Association. The committee was responsible for the churches' cooperating by building floats for the pageant. He was assisted in his work by Miss Margaret Huffman, who took over Saturday when Rev. Eyster was called out of town.

Beginning at 10:15 a.m. Tuesday the following topics will be discussed: "Put Kilowatts to Work for Profit," with C. K. Kline, rural electrification specialist at Ohio State University, as discussion leader; "Credit as a Farm Tool," with George Young, officer of the Old Phoenix National Bank of Medina, leading the discussion; and Mrs. Warren Starlin of Bucyrus will discuss "Homemade Candles and Christmas Cards." These sessions will be held in the court room the Soil Conservation Service rooms and the annex assembly room, respectively. At noon lunch will be served in the assembly room by members of the Williamsport Grange.

From 1 until 2:30 p.m. the electrification and credit topics will be repeated; while Mrs. Robert Vansickle, of near Cardington discusses "Shortcuts in Housework" with the ladies. At 2:30 p.m., the general assembly program will be held in the assembly room. Congressman Jackson Roberts will discuss the topic "Your Congressman Looks at the Farm Program."

Woman Still Defies Law
After Five Months in Jail

By Jerry Brown

CARLSBAD, N. M. (AP)—A stubborn little woman with a firm belief in her own rights has finished her fifth month in a jail cell.

"And I'll stay here," says Mrs. Frances Supina, "until I get justice."

Mrs. Supina absolutely refuses to pay a $1,000 fine for contempt of court.

Her neighbors on swank Riverside drive here complained that she was renting a garage apartment in violation of a restrictive covenant in her deed. District Court ordered her to stop.

She refused, contending she was letting a displaced couple use the apartment in return for work and was charging no rent. A fine of $1,000 was levied for contempt.

Last July 6 she entered the county jail after refusing to pay.

A few days later, seven friends came forward with the money. She again refused.

"Justice is what I want... to clear my name," she said. Embarrassed local officials didn't know what to do. She has to stay in jail until the fine is paid or until the judge is overruled.

Friends appealed to the governor. Smiling grimly, Mrs. Supina promised that if he didn't act she'd take it to a higher court.

Mrs. Supina is 51 years old. She appears to be in good health, although she left jail for three weeks when she was hospitalized with a stomach ailment.

"When I first went to jail I weighed 138," she said, "but I'm now down to 114."

She complains that jail food doesn't agree with her and that she recently had a case of trench mouth.

"My time in jail has been well spent, though," she says.

"I'm rereading the Bible—and I'm getting quite an education talking to my fellow prisoners."

Ike Considers Reply to Soviet Bid for Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, back from his Thanksgiving holiday and priming for the Big Three parley in Bermuda Dec. 4, huddles today with Secretary of State Dulles on the Soviet's latest cold war move.

The big problem is how to respond to the Russian bid for a meeting with the United States, Britain and France. The bid was regarded as a drive aimed at crumbling the West's planned European defense army—if not Western unity in the bargain.

Eisenhower flew into Washington last night aboard the presidential plane Columbine from Augusta, Ga., where he had spent a six-day Thanksgiving holiday. The plane had stopped en route at Ft. Benning, Ga., to return Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower and their three children to their home.

On his last day in Augusta, the president attended church services, got in a final round of golf and dropped a hint as to where he might spend Christmas. As he boarded the plane for Washington, he told those who had come to see him off: "I hope I'll be back for Christmas."

Eisenhower is known to have talked by telephone with Dulles Friday and to have had several telephone conversations with unnamed parties in Washington Saturday.

The Red plan was, in effect, a counterproposal to a U.N. plan submitted by Dean Saturday.

The Allied plan limited "Neutrals" to nations which have an interest in the Korean situation such as Pakistan and India, but omitted the additional Red choices of Burma, Indonesia and Russia.

The Red counterplan restored the three but made one important concession—that the neutrals would not have a vote although they would have the right to participate in other phases.

What to Do With Russia

The heart of the problem, however, was what to do with Russia, which the Reds have demanded firmly be admitted as a neutral.

The Reds apparently had no immediate reaction to Dean's obviously aimed at satisfying every corner—that the Russians be neither belligerent or neutral but a special "third party."

The Red proposal still listed Russia as a "neutral."

However, Dean said he would "never agree" to that point.

The spokesman who amplified Dean's proposal on Russia said: "Russia will attend as a full participant with voting rights and bound by all agreements. She will not be listed as either a neutral or a belligerent but as a third party."

"She will not be on the Communist team if she does not desire to be..."

Dean also criticized other points of the Communist proposal.

He said the neutrals would have the power to make motions and take undue part in the discussions. "They are saying that the neutrals are not participants but have the rights of participants."

Meanwhile, a reliable source said he believes the Allied command will begin interviews next week with 22 American, 1 Briton and 328 South Korean POWs who are listed as unwilling to return home.

They will meet again Wednesday. Dean said after today's meeting—first of the sixth week of talks—that the Communist proposal is simply an old plan "dressed up with altering tinsel."

He said he was "exceptionally disappointed" and told newsmen there was a "complete lack of progress."

'Gratified' at Switch

However, Dean said he was "gratified" the Communists have suggested New Delhi as a conference site, switching from their previous insistence on Pannumjorn. An Indian spokesman in Pannumjorn said he believed the Indian government would approve New Delhi if both sides requested it.

The Reds also proposed that the conference begin Dec. 28.

Surplus Grain

By George Sokolsky

The theory of the permanent granary was invented by Joseph in Egypt whose object it was to be certain that a period of starvation should not follow a period of plenty. Henry Wallace, following in Joseph's footsteps, set up a similar system for the United States. This idea somehow became the basis for a $3,000,000,000 purchasing enterprise on the part of our government.

On Nov. 16, the Government of the United States, through the Commodity Credit Corp., owned 235,403 bales of upland cotton and 516,606,000 pounds of cotton lint valued at $79,496,000. This does not include 31,156 bales of American-Egyptian cotton.

ON THE SALE date, the government owned 237,879,000 pounds of butter valued at $157,595,000; 260,528,000 pounds of cheese valued at $103,560,000 and 422,408,000 pounds of dried milk valued at $69,697,000. The price of butter has been maintained until it is being priced out of the market and is being overtaken by other commodities.

could go on with detailed figures, but they are all of a pattern. For instance, the government owned, on that date, $745,065,000 worth of corn and $1,099,323,000 of wheat. The total inventory for all commodities amounted to $2,609,610,000—a very tidy sum.

This ownership does not include any figures showing what the government has invested in loans on agricultural commodities, which amount to approximately another billion dollars.

WHAT IS THE government going to do with all this property? If put on the market, it is bound to bring prices down. If given away to inadequately supplied countries, it could disturb their economy of other exporting countries.

As a matter of fact, other countries are worried lest these commodities come on the world market, suddenly upsetting all calculations. Great Britain has already taken steps to keep American wheat out of the British market.

When suggestions are put forward to do anything about this question, certain groups of organized farmers kick up a political row and agricultural senators and representatives get terribly excited in public, no matter what they think or what they say privately.

In fact, some of those who protest most vehemently against Secretary of Agriculture Benson's proposals to do something constructive about all this have written me that I have misunderstood them altogether. Why do they not say in public precisely what they mean to do about this hoard?

IT IS CLEAR that the United States cannot go on buying, storing and spoiling agricultural commodities or for that matter industrial commodities. We cannot follow the unbelievable wartime procedure of dumping goods into the ocean rather than to ship them back to the United States.

As a matter of fact, some businessmen, particularly those engaged in large industries which also manufacture abroad, are proposing that the American tariff should be reduced and that those American business firms which might suffer be given a dole. In other words, put American business out of business and give it subsidies out of the taxpayers' money. Those who now propose a dole for business used to protest violently against such subsidies as went to agriculture or even unemployment insurance.

Where will subsidies stop? Are we to put a floor under all prices, industrial as well as agricultural? Are we to set up controls over the total production of this country so that prices can be controlled and the movement of goods controlled that the government can decide how much of a subsidy taxpayer is to pay out? Is the entire American population to be put on some kind of subsidy, devised in such a manner as to hide the fact that it is a subsidy?

SUCH A QUESTION should not be used for partisan purposes. It requires a social as well as an economic appraisal. It is a fundamental problem in the development or retrogression of the American society. Our economy cannot stand a much greater strain.

Surely sooner or later the taxpayers, whatever their vocation, will resist the cost of these subsidies. They will demand that the entire system of subsidies and doles be discontinued as burdensome beyond the ability of the people to carry the cost of buying what is uneeded, of holding an inventory that cannot be used. High prices and high taxes will be the principal issue in the 1954 campaign—that and communism. (King Features Syndicate)

Galion Firm Makes Plans for Building Tractor Loaders

Special to The Star
GALION — A new tractor loader will be manufactured and sold by Galion Allsteel Body Company's plants in Galion and Mansfield.

This was announced Saturday by Oliver C. Henkel president of the firm. In the announcement, Henkel said that the Galion firm had acquired sales and manufacturing rights to the complete line of Austin Overshot tractor loaders, patented and built by John Austin Manufacturing Co., Denver, Colo.

The loaders are used throughout the construction, mining and quarry industries, and are adaptable to virtually every tractor make and model. They have rated bucket capacities of 1 to 7 cubic yards.

The distinguishing feature of the loader is the method by which it raises various materials in an overhead arc and carries them directly over the tractor. It then spills or dumps the materials into a dump truck or hauling unit. In this way the tractor or truck does not have to back or turn during the loading operation. It is explained that this method of loading material speeds up handling and to effect substantial savings in operating costs.

Raymond Austin, internationally famous tunnel builder, was the original designer of the loader.

The Galion Allsteel Co., manufacturer of dump bodies and hydraulic hoists, will continue to have the services of Austin and his engineering staff as consultants and advisors.

Ballet Dancers Present Sparkling Entertainment

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Ballet came to the Palace theater stage as the opening number of the Marion Community Concert Association's 1953-54 season Saturday evening.

Presented by the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo Concert Company, the performers gave their audience an evening of sparkling entertainment, which, judging from the applause, was breath-taking, pleasing and appreciated. The principals and entire company were brought back for bows many, many times throughout the evening.

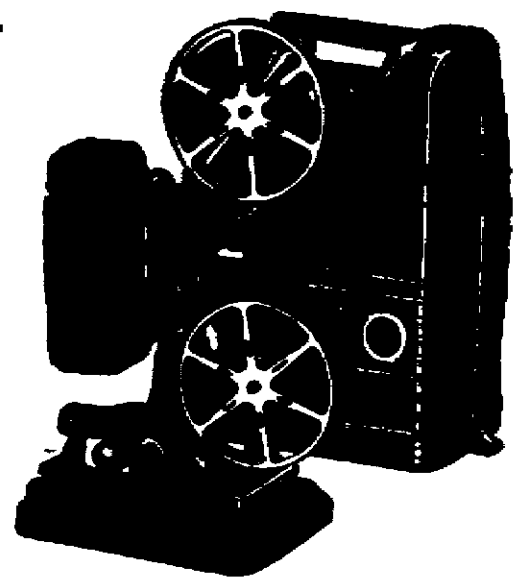

The dancers were as interesting as they were amazing in their speed and precision and the costumes and musical arrangements provided the colorful setting.

THE FOUR NUMBERS were varied and presented something to please every dance patron. Designating any as the most outstanding would be difficult since each had its individual appeal.

Most popular perhaps was the "Gaité Parisienne," which included the once-scandalous can-can, and the haunting "Barcarolle" from "Tales of Hoffman." The number recalled an evening in Paris of the 1880's at the gay Cafe Tortoni and brought the dances before Chalkovsky's "Swan Lake" opened the program. In this number and in the third number, "Circus De Deux," Moselyne Larkin, was replaced by Miss Gertrude Tyven. In the first number, "The Swan Queen" was danced by Miss Tyven and in the circus number she joined Fernando Schaffenburg as the ballerina.

The prince in "Swan Lake" was Roman Jasinsky and Schaffenburg his friend.

NINA NOVAK, the glove seller in the "Gaité Parisienne," is a native of Warsaw, Poland and has been with the company since last October. She joined the touring ballet after being in the company four years. She plans to return, but says she enjoys being on the road tour "because it provides an opportunity for more people throughout the country who like ballet to enjoy it."

Miss Novak was the princess in Tchaikovsky's "The Bluebird and the Enchanted Princess," and Victor Moreno was the Bluebird in the legend of the sleeping beauty. The musical arrangements for two pianos were especially created and were played by Rachel Chapman and Vincent de Sola. The company, which is making the tour in a large bus, came here from Lima and left early Sunday morning on a more than 500-mile jump to Jefferson City, Mo.

The second number of the concert series will bring Morley Gearhart, duo pianists, here on Jan. 12.

COGNAC, France (U.P.)—Here in the home of cognac brandy the newborn baby's first bottle is a bottle of cognac, but he won't ever get to touch it.

An age-old custom of the region provides that the baby's father put aside a bottle of his choicest cognac for the child's communion. The cognac is labeled with the youngster's name, then held for the family celebration years later.

Tourists who visit the cellars of cognac makers and see such names as "Yvonne" and "Jean" on bottles are told that these are not brands of cognac. These are the bottles of the two youngsters in the family.

Firemen Answer Call

Marion city firemen were called out only once over the weekend. They were summoned to the residence of Elvin Beech at 451 N. Main St. at 9:32 a.m. Sunday. Mark St. station firemen answered the call and reported the furnace apparently back-fired and blew the door open, sending flames and smoke into the basement. However, nothing caught fire, and there was only slight smoke damage.

Farmer's Almanac Predicts Storm of Year in Early April

The 162nd consecutive annual edition of The Old Farmer's Almanac for the year 1954 is on the shelves in news stands.

Between the yellow covers one meets such old friends as Abe Weatherise, the weather forecaster, David Morton and his Calendar poetry, and finds poetry jokes and a fund of information on planting, science and laws. And just in case you forget how many gills there are in a pint, tables of measures fill a page.

From the middle of December on, Abe Weatherise expects the month to be raw and dull all month with nothing very exciting or harmful. The first 10 days of January will bring cold storms, then it will be windy and boisterous until the January thaw about the 23rd. The last week will be bitter cold. Cold will continue for one week in February, snowstorms will follow and the last two weeks will be milder. Blow, cold and wet is forecast for March, and there will be false signs of spring. During the first 10 days of April, the storm of the year is forecast.

New Year's Day falls on Friday, Lincoln's birthday on Friday, and Washington's birthday on Monday. Ash Wednesday falls on March 3 and Easter Sunday is April 18. Winter begins at 10:32 p.m. Dec. 21, 1953, Spring at 10:54 p.m. on March 20, 1954. The summer solstice is scheduled for 5:55 p.m. June 21, and autumn arrives at 8:56 a.m. Sept. 22.

Recipes include carrot marmalade, down east sizzlers, horehound candy, peanut pie and other appetizing dishes.

There will be five eclipses during 1954, three of the sun and

Willbur Peebles Reflects

Bears Smart but Women Are Smarter

By HAL BOYLE
HOMETOWN, U.S.A. (P)—"Bears are smarter than people," said Wilbur Peeble, America's tireddest tired businessman.
His wife, Trellis Mae, went on working her crossword puzzle. Wilbur cleared his throat noisily. Trellis Mae stifled a yawn, wrote in a word in the puzzle, placidly shook her head, then erased it. Wilbur opened his mouth and began to shout, "Bears are—"
"Smarter than people," finished Trellis Mae. "Don't raise your voice. I heard you, dear."
"But you didn't ask me why bears are smarter than people," complained Wilbur.
"I don't have to."
"Why don't you have to?"
"Because I know what you would say."
"All right," said Wilbur. "What would I say?"
"You'd say bears were smarter than people because bears hibernate in December—and people don't."
"Why, that is what I did intend to say," replied Wilbur, surprised. "But do you know why I think people ought to hibernate in December?"
"Oh, yes indeed."
"I beg your pardon."
"I said, yes indeed. I know why you think people ought to hibernate in December."
"Oh, you do, do you? All right, tell me then, Mrs. Mind Reader."

"Well, you were going to say you think people ought to hibernate in December like bears because December is no longer a month, but a 31-day bike race."
"You were going to say that you love Santa Claus as much as any man, and maybe even better than his mother did, but, after all, Christmas is getting to be a racket."
"You were going to say that a man can't get any peace between Thanksgiving Day and the first of January, and that it is a dead-end time in which everybody tries to make up in 31 days for the heel they've been all year long."
"How did you?"—Wilbur started to say, but Trellis Mae continued: "You were going to say that your face gets tired this time of year smiling at the boss and waiting for him to tell you how small the Christmas bonus will be."
"You were going to say that this year we might as well skip the office party, but that if we do go, well, don't worry, as you certainly don't intend to make as big a fool of yourself as you did last year, and the year before, and the year before that."
"You were going to say that Christmas is no longer so much a test of character as it is a feat of endurance, and for heaven's sake, do we have to give presents to all my relatives every year of your life, and before we even get into that argument, I will tell you the answer is yes."

"You were going to say that you asked me last January to be sure and mail our Christmas cards by the 4th of July, and you will tell right now I still haven't done a thing about it. Well, I haven't—so there."
"You were going to say—oh, what difference does it make what you were going to say, Wilbur, tell the truth. Do you know anybody who enjoys Christmas as much as you do?"
"No, I guess not."
He started reading the newspaper. A few moments later Trellis Mae put down the puzzle and stared reflectively at her husband. "Wilbur," she said, "Uh huh."
"Wilbur, listen to me. Why is it you never talk to me? I never know what's going on in your mind."
Wilbur put down his newspaper. He looked at Trellis Mae's sloping female skull with the hopeless envy of a midge gazing up at Mt. Everest.
"Women," he said, "are smarter than bears—or people."

Army Engineers Build Pipeline for Drought-Hit Town

EDINA, Mo. (P)—Weary soldiers today watched water gush from a five-mile pipeline they had built in 54 hours of round-the-clock labor to supply this drought-stricken town of 1,600.

"That's the most beautiful sight I've ever seen," exclaimed Mayor O. M. Gillaspay as water spurted from the six-inch pipe into the city's reservoir.

Lt. James Boyles, commander of a 156-man Army Engineer unit from 1st. Leonard Wood, said his men would keep the pumps going for two weeks, filling the reservoir from an 80-acre lake. Then the line will be dismantled.

Mayor Gillaspay appealed to the Army for help last week and promised the town would pay expenses if the Army Engineers would lay the line.

Scalding Bath Fatal To Workhouse Inmate

CLEVELAND (P)—Frank Zonar, 78, died last night after a scalding bath at Warrensville workhouse.

Sgt. John Leitch said Zonar was placed in a bathtub by a male nurse, who returned about 45 minutes later to find the hot water running. Zonar was dazed but still conscious. The submerged part of his body was reddened by the hot water. Leitch said he was dead on arrival at city hospital.

Zonar had completed a three-month term for vagrancy April 6 but was allowed to stay on because he had no other place to go.

Tables Show Change

Tax Bite on Most Incomes To Be Smaller as of Jan. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam will be taking a smaller bite from most incomes beginning Jan. 1. The Internal Revenue Service today made public tables showing just what the difference will be.

Less will be withheld from your paycheck because the individual income tax rate returns to the pre-Korea level. This means a reduction of about 10 per cent for most taxpayers. Taxpayers with large incomes will get a smaller percentage benefit.

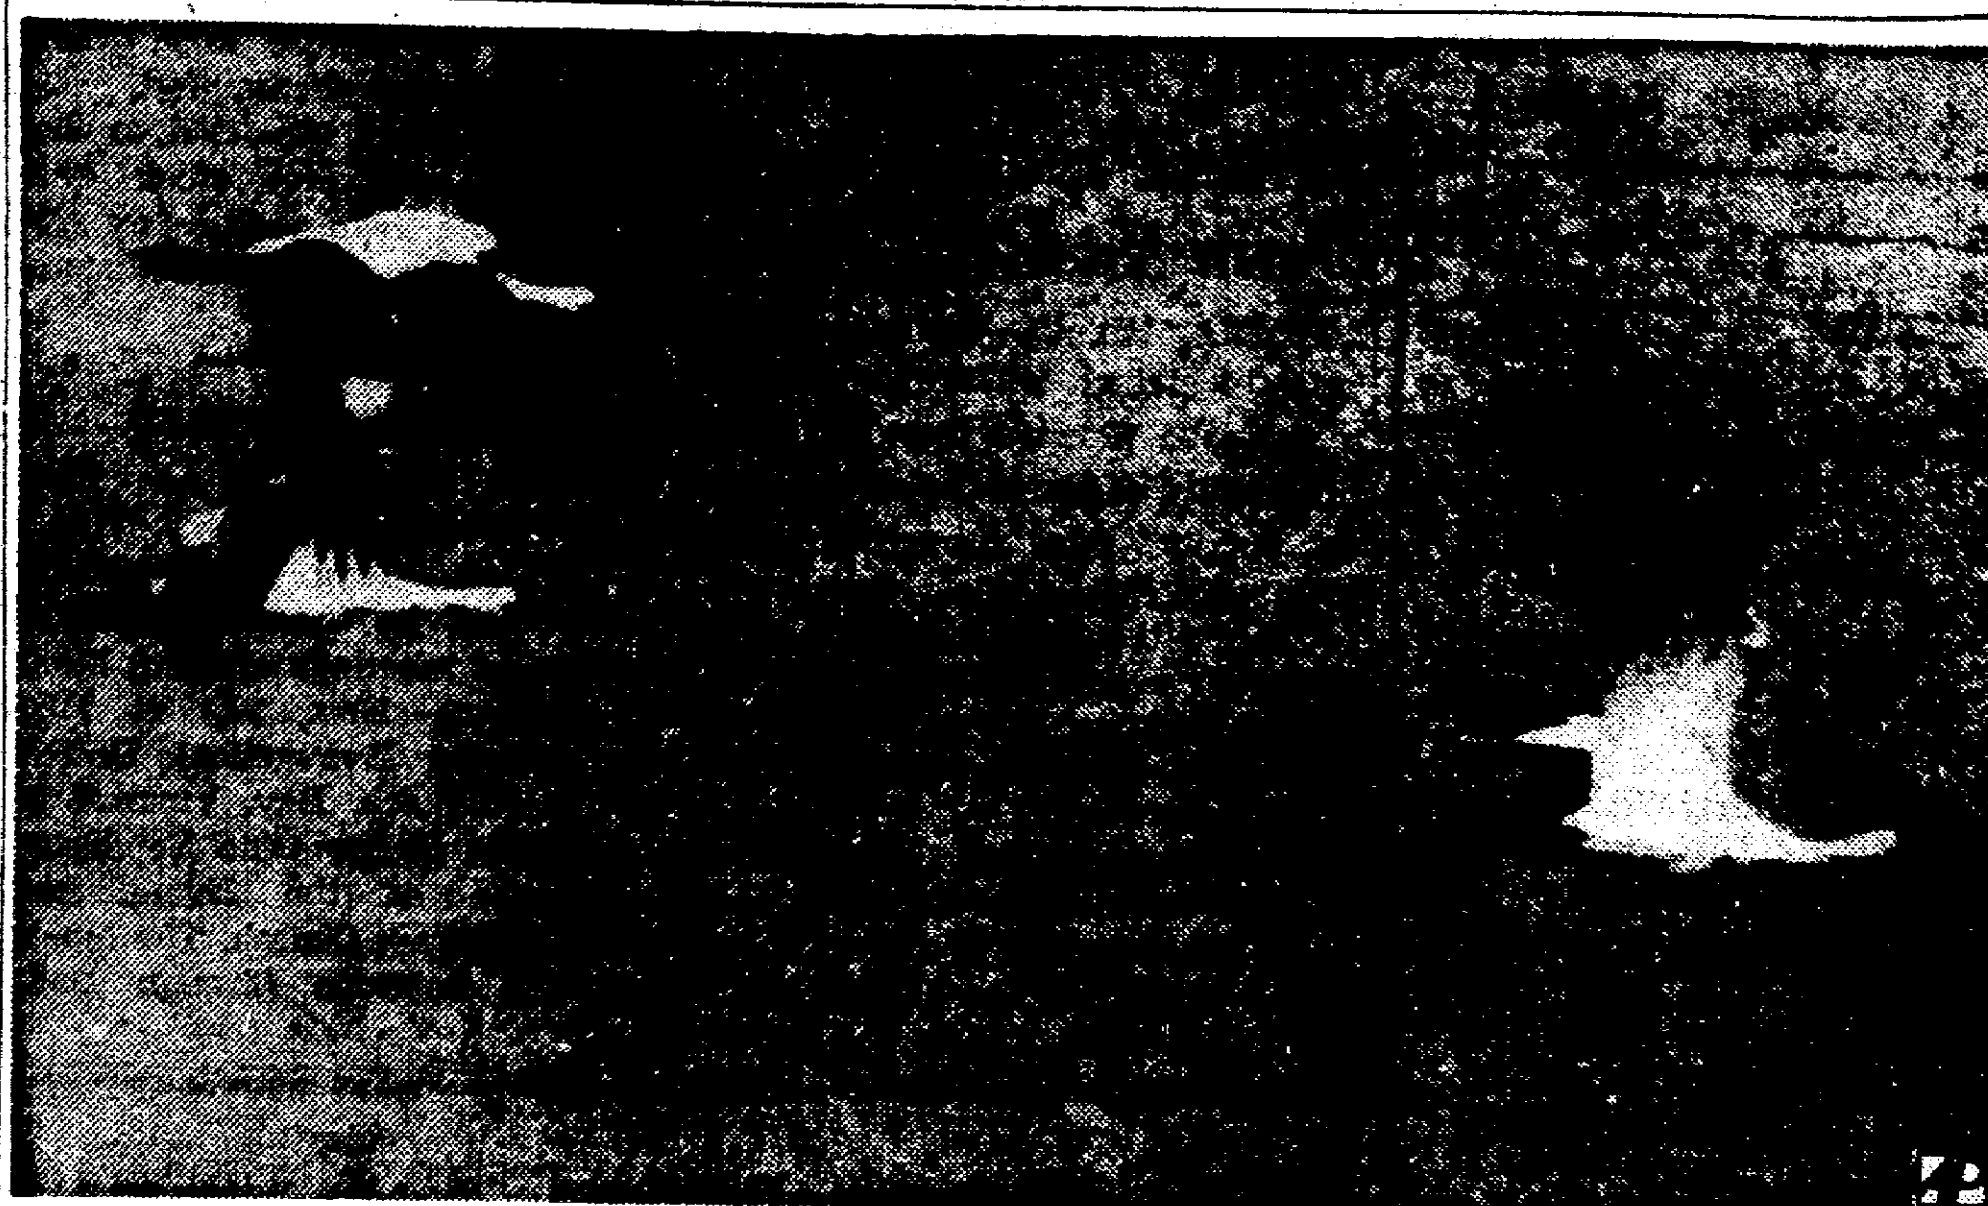

The automatic reduction was written into the tax law raising taxes in 1951. Also on Jan. 1 the excess profits tax on corporations, imposed after fighting began in Korea, will end.

Following are tables comparing the present individual income tax withholding rates, as applied to weekly paychecks, and the lower rates to go into effect in 1954:

If you are single, with no dependents, read the column headed 1, meaning you have one exemption for withholding purposes. A working wife, whose husband claims an exemption for her against his own withholding rate, would find her own tax in the column headed 0.

A married man claiming exemption for himself and wife only would read the column headed 2. A married man with one child would read column 3, with two children, column 4.

Mayor Weirich Dies at Massillon

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — Mayor S. Robert Weirich, 51, whose 12-year tenure was the longest in Massillon's history, died in a hospital yesterday of a heart ailment.

The short, heavy-set Republican suffered a heart attack Nov. 18. Weirich, who was a high school football star in his youth, sought only two political offices during his career and the mayoralty post was the first. He took office in 1942 and was reelected five times.

Several years later he ran for Stark County sheriff, but was defeated in the primary. This year he decided he had been mayor long enough and did not enter the contest. Edgar L. Lash, a Democrat, was elected and will take office Jan. 1. L. J. Kerrigan, Democratic president of City Council, will serve as acting mayor until then.

Weirich was a native of Massillon and had owned the Universal Dry Cleaning Co. here for 27 years. At one time he also operated a motor car sales agency in Massillon and in Canton.

PURCHASE STEERS

BUCYRUS — Purchase of 18 steers for the Crawford County Home was announced here today by county commissioners. The steers were purchased from the Bachrach Cattle Co. at Plymouth at a cost of $1,729. The animals have been placed on the home farm where they will be fattened and resold, C. Edwin Ulmer, home superintendent, reported. A few will be kept for home use.

Gifts Are Sent Collect By Arizona Santa Claus

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A mischievous Santa Claus has been sending Christmas gifts to Mrs. John G. Henry, but it's made her mad.

A wedding cake came first. Then maternal clothing arrived, followed by jewelry and still more clothes. "Gifts are always nice," said the flustered Mrs. Henry, "but everything so far has come collect."

She called in private detectives yesterday.

PLAT APPROVED

BUCYRUS — Crawford County commissioners here have approved a plat for a proposed subdivision in Polk Township, Vance Hoover, commissioners' chairman, announced today. The plat is known as Hottenroth's Subdivision and is located one mile west of Galion on the southeast corner of the intersection of the Bucyrus-Galion and Dice roads.

Dance Band, Symphony Clash in San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Last Saturday night the gentle strains of Debussy, played by the San Antonio Symphony on the main floor of the city auditorium, were caught up in Latin rhythm beat out by a bongo band in the basement.

Dude Skiles, auditorium manager, was beset yesterday by irate symphony officials and by the dancers who had rented the basement. He planned to talk it over with City Manager Ralph Winton today.

Skiles asked the dance band to muffle its music but quoted musicians as saying they couldn't "ruin the band's reputation."

'Old Curmudgeon' Distrusted FDR

Ickes Criticizes Roosevelt, New Deal in Secret Diary

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold L. Ickes, who seemed never to hold his tongue for any man while he lived, has come up with some tart opinions of the New Deal and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The "Old Curmudgeon" found the New Deal, of which he was a moving spirit, spendthrift with the taxpayers' money and headed by a man he felt he couldn't trust.

Roosevelt's secretary of the interior wrote in 1936 that he had been "sold down the river" by the President.

Regretted Not Quitting
Ickes regretted, in fact, that he hadn't walked out of Roosevelt's Cabinet a year before.

He felt there was a "very real chance" he could have been nominated by the Republicans to run against Roosevelt. And he thought that, if nominated, he probably would have won.

These opinions — sharply challenged by onetime Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley, among others — came to light in "The Secret Diary of Harold L. Ickes," of which a first, 705-page installment will be published tomorrow (Simon & Schuster, $6).

Ickes reveals that, for all his misgivings about Roosevelt, the President's wife and chief aides, and in spite of his own secret presidential hopes, he stayed on as a New Deal stalwart because he feared the Republicans would deliver the country to big business if they got the chance.

Widow Okays Release

Ickes died early last year and the six-million-word diary he kept under lock and key is only now being released piecemeal by his widow — censored, at that, to spare the feelings of the living from some of Ickes' more sulphurous comments.

This day-by-day record pictures the first four years of the New Deal as dominated to a large extent by struggles for power among such officials as the late Harry L. Hopkins and the then secretary of the Treasury, Henry Morgenthau Jr., and, swinging lustily in the midst of all this, Ickes himself.

One surprise: Ickes says then Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace Jr., later much criticized for overfriendliness toward Russia, strongly opposed United States recognition of the Soviet Union early in the first Roosevelt administration.

Claimed 'Double-Cross'

It was after Roosevelt did not back him in an expansion of the Interior Department, to take in all conservation activities, that Ickes lamented he had been "double-crossed."

He quoted Rep. Dempsey (D-NM) as saying it would have been hard to impeach the late Sen. Huey Long (D-La) for calling the President a liar since Long might well have proved it. And he goes on: "It is pretty tough when things like this can be said about the President of the United States and when members of his own official family and his own party in Congress feel that he cannot be relied upon."

Irked at 'Meddling'

As for Mrs. Roosevelt, Ickes complained bitterly that she kept meddling in government affairs — especially his. He accused her, along with Hopkins, who ran the Works Progress Administration (WPA), of spending money "like drunken sailors."

When asked, Mrs. Roosevelt declined comment on the book.

In one sarcastic passage Ickes wrote that soon he would expect the First Lady's young grandchildren, Sissie and Buzzie Dall, to be issuing orders to his staff.

"Fortunately," he grumbled,

"they can't write yet."

It was after a run-in with Roosevelt that Ickes wrote he'd been approached, in 1935, with the idea of quitting the Cabinet and going after the GOP nomination.

'Good a Chance as Any'

"I would have had as good a chance as anybody else," he wrote. "Of course I know in my heart I would not have been nominated because I would not have made the terms necessary to secure the support that I would have needed. But

Wheat Quotas Penalize, Farm Speaker Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The annual meeting of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation begins in Columbus today with a field crops conference discussing government controlled acreage.

Dr. Mervin G. Smith, chairman of the department of rural economics at Ohio State University, prepared a talk arguing that wheat quotas this fall raise serious problems for Ohio farmers.

He says "there is a real danger quotas based only on historical acreage will penalize the efficient farmer who used good crop rotation in the past."

Roy F. Hendrickson, Washington, D. C., executive secretary of the National Federation of Grain Cooperatives, advocates immediate construction of more terminal market space and says lack of proper storage has cost Ohio farmers millions of dollars in the past five years.

Hendrickson suggests private business and cooperatives undertake the job of terminal construction with a government guaranteed space would be used.

ELECTED. Dr. Walter Schreiber, above, 69, Christian Democrat, was elected Lord Mayor of West Berlin by the City Parliament, succeeding the late Ernest Reuter, Socialist.

For the first time in generations...

More Americans own homes today than pay rent!

WE ARE BUILDING close to a million new homes every single year. And today, for the first time in generations, 55 per cent of American families own their own homes.

The increase in home ownership is just one of many significant changes we've seen in recent years.

We're raising bigger families. Our children are getting more education. We're living longer. We're earning more money. Our whole way of living is changing!

This means we have much more to protect.

And life insurance is keeping pace and is constantly growing more flexible to meet our new needs.

For example, to meet the increasing interest in home ownership, the life insurance companies have developed a number of plans for protecting the family's stake in the home. As a result, hundreds of thousands of homeowners now own life insurance to pay off the mortgage in case they do not live to complete the payments.

More and more families are also using life insurance to provide a regular income at the death or retirement of the breadwinner.

Others are using various kinds of policies for particular needs, such as extra provision for the children's growing years or funds to send them to college.

For almost every family, the needs for protection are constantly changing — a child is born, a child grows up, a home is bought. And life insurance can be planned to meet these changes.

A suggestion: Have your needs or circumstances changed? Have you looked over your life insurance to see how it stacks up with your present way of living and the goals you and your family have set for yourselves?

Appeals Court Will Review Elevator Case

Judges To Meet Here Tuesday To Consider Marion Jurist's Order

The Third District Court of Appeals, sitting in Marion Tuesday will consider the Courthouse elevator question.

The elevator was ordered installed by Judge Paul D. Smith after the hearing of a motion filed by the Marion County Bar Association.

Testimony was presented on May 7 before the judge, who ruled that an elevator is "not only a necessary facility for the efficient performance of the functions of the courts, but the installation will be a progressive step toward securing physical facilities so badly needed by most other county offices."

Testimony at this hearing placed the estimated cost of an elevator and necessary shafts at about $33,000. Commissioners contended they felt the addition of an elevator certainly would be desirable, but they didn't have the money for its installation.

In July commissioners decided to ask voters in November for help in carrying out the court order to install the elevator.

A month later commissioners filed a notice of appeal with the Third District Court of Appeals asking that court to review the case.

In November voters turned down a proposed half-mill levy which would have raised an estimated $50,000 for the elevator's installation.

Presiding judge of the Third District is Raymond A. Younger of Celina. The other two judges are Charles A. Guernsey of Fostoria, and George S. Middleton of Bellefontaine.

Court will be held starting at 10 a.m. in the Common Pleas Courtroom on the third floor of the Courthouse. Sessions are open to the public.

Delight Your Children With These Doughnuts

If your children like a snack when they come home from school or you want something good for their lunches, try these raised gingerbread doughnuts. Plain or rolled in sugar, they're so tasty they'll become a family favorite.

1 cup milk
3/4 cup sugar
3/4 cup warm, not hot, water (lukewarm for compressed yeast)
1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
4 3/4 cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg

1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/4 cup shortening
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, beaten
Scald milk and add sugar. Set aside to cool to lukewarm. Measure water into a large mixing bowl (warm, not hot, for active dry yeast; lukewarm for compressed yeast). Sprinkle or crumble in yeast. Stir until dissolved. Add lukewarm milk. Sift together flour, ginger, cinnamon, nutmeg and allspice. Add 2 cups to yeast mixture and beat until smooth. Cover and let rise about 1 hour in a warm place. Cream shortening, gradually adding molasses. Stir in salt and beaten eggs. Stir into yeast mixture. Stir in remaining flour. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise until double in bulk. Roll out one third inch thick on floured board and cut with doughnut cutter. Place doughnuts on floured board or greased baking sheet. Cover with cloth and let rise until double. Drop into hot fat (350 degrees F.) raised side down. Cook 2 or 3 minutes, a few at a time, turning once. Glaze while warm: Dip into a glaze made by stirring 1 cup confectioners' sugar into one third cup boiling water and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Makes 2 dozen doughnuts.

ACROSS THE COUNTER

In the short time it takes you to read this message, a person will be injured in an auto accident. For in the United States 1 person is injured every 24 seconds. That adds up to about 300,000 each year.

Unfortunately, too, the national average is 1 person killed in a car accident every 14 minutes, day or night, all year around.

And, counting the minor scrapes as well as the ghastly crashes, 25,000 drivers are involved in auto accidents every day.

These statistics are shocking! Before it is too late, give some serious thought to safe driving. Most auto accidents take place in clear weather or dry roads when the car is going straight. Excessive speed and recklessness account for the major share. In some cases, defective autos are to blame. Now is the time to check your car for safety. The brakes, lights, windshield wipers and other mechanical features should be examined.

And—since seemingly auto accidents will always be with us—check your auto insurance. Be sure it is the kind that will bring you FINANCIAL SAFETY in the event of bad accident.

Safe insurance is the type we offer. May we discuss SAFE auto insurance with you?

QUITE often when the loss follows a long and expensive illness, it is necessary for the family to take care of their obligation over a period of time. We make arrangements for extended terms, and we cooperate with the family fully, trying to arrange the payments so that they do not work a hardship on those left behind.

Another important consideration is that we do not charge interest or a carrying charge to those who make arrangements for paying over a period of time.

Radio and Television

By John Crosby

Cinderella's Back

I think I smell a trend. Romance, a commodity that passed almost entirely out of fashion, is on the way again and I for one am happy to welcome it back. On Broadway, for example, people will find a play called "Sabrina Fair" which was written by a reformed radio writer named Samuel Taylor who once wrote, of all things, the Henry Aldrich radio series.

"Sabrina Fair" is a plush, sparkling, updated version of Cinderella fable — even to the extent of having a ball. One of its stars, Margaret Sullivan, emphasizes the fairy story atmosphere in a little prologue which opens, if my memory isn't playing me tricks, "once upon a time." The critics, most of them, anyway, took "Sabrina Fair" to their breasts but seemed a little puzzled at why they should enjoy so slight a trifle.

THEIR EXPLANATIONS — the geniality and frequent wit of the dialogue, the drawing power of its stars which included Joseph Cotten in addition to Miss Sullivan — are not, to me, quite adequate.

It's just possible we are in the mood for fairy stories again. Twentieth-Century Fox has just exhumed another, rather different variation of the Cinderella fable in Zoe Akins' old play, "The Greeks Had a Word for It" which it's presenting under the title "How To Marry a Millionaire." Cinderella is all over the place.

Just the other day, Kraft Theater — the second Kraft Theater, the one on Thursday nights on ABC-TV 9:30 p.m. EST — presented a story which was Cinderella with an unhappy ending. A rich aristocrat in what I take to be the '90s is on a walking tour when he sprains his ankle. Naturally, there is a cottage nearby inhabited, among others, by a half-tamed young lady who sings songs to the brook and sees fairies in the forests. Real wild young thing.

LOVE BLOOMS. But not for long. Too soon, organized society reclaims the young man from his unsuitable and decidedly unfashionable love. The social distemper of the times prevented any mating between social classes as takes place (not without spirited opposition) in "Sabrina Fair." I rather think that neither "Sabrina Fair" nor this Kraft play would have been received so kindly 10 years ago. In fact, I can't imagine "Sabrina Fair" even with its fine cast, lasting more than a couple of weeks on Broadway in 1943.

There have been quite a few fairy stories of one sort or another visible on TV recently. For those in a sentimental mood, Lux Theater offered a fable — this one, too, starting with the words "Once upon a time" — about a waiter whose small daughter yearned to possess, just for a single night, a diamond.

He brings home a diamond that he'd picked off the floor of the swank restaurant where he worked and gets in a peck of trouble about it. It was a gentile, rather pointless tale redeemed largely by the touching performance of Claude Dauphin as the waiter.

A FAIRY STORY of a different sort was "The Canterville Ghost," Oscar Wilde's old story, presented by Medallion Theater with Edward Everett Horton and Hildy Parks. Mr. Horton plays the part of a nobleman who killed his

Chicago Apartment Fire
Fatal to Three Children

CHICAGO (AP) — Three terror-stricken children died huddled in their beds when a burning broom spread fire through a basement apartment yesterday but a fourth fled into the hall and survived.

Sylvia Guy, 4, who was overcome by smoke but revived, told police her dead brother, Albert, 5, had poked the broom into the gas heater.

Also dead were Philip, 2, and Geraldine, 8 months. The father, Willard, 35, an unemployed steelworker, said he left the children alone to pick up his waitress wife Marilyn, 34.

Browns Declared 'One of Greatest'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League said today the Cleveland Browns rank "as one of the greatest teams of all time" and did "the unbelievable" by going unbeaten in winning the NFL's Eastern Division crown.

Bell, in a pre-season prediction, said the winner of the NFL's Eastern and Western division titles would lose at least three games. The Browns yesterday copped the Eastern crown by winning their 10th straight—a 27-16 triumph over the Chicago Cardinals.

Bell said: "The Browns and their coaches have done the unbelievable and have my heartiest congratulations. They undoubtedly will go down in National League history as one of the greatest teams of all time."

Barons' Winning Streak Stopped After Four in Row

Komets Score 3 in Opening Period, Stave Off Rallies

The Marion Barons' win streak was stopped at four games yesterday by the visiting Fort Wayne Komets. The Komets skated off with a 3-2 victory to move into a tie for fourth place with Marion, Louisville and Troy.

The Barons were knocked out of second place Saturday night when Johnstown won over Grand Rapids to move ahead of the local team. The Jets won again yesterday to retain their lead.

The Komets, playing without the services of their No. 1 line, jumped into a 3-0 lead in the first period. Skip Frizell, Billy Watson and Edgar Blondin failed to arrive by game time after their automobile broke down at Lima.

The two other lines, however, played over their heads in making up for their absence. The three arrived late in the opening period just in time for Frizell to figure in what proved to be the winning goal.

Score after 8:25

Fort Wayne's first score came after 8:25 of the opening period had been played. Joe Kastelic drove the disc past Lou Crowdie after taking a combination pass from Coach Jack Timmins and Orrin Gould.

In the final two minutes of that period, the visiting Komets cemented the win with their final two tallies. Edgar Blondin countered the second at 18:13 with Timmins and Eddie Long assisting. Marion's Ted Leboda was in the penalty box at the time.

The second period was all Marion. After controlling play for most of the period, the Barons cashed in after 4:25 when Dutch Delmonte scored after taking a relay from Murray Wilkie. Ivan Walmsley, Komets goal tender, complained after the score, saying the flash of a photographer's camera had blinded him. The photographer, at the time, was stationed in the regular photographer's pen.

Prize Scores

Jerry Prince narrowed the deficit to 3-2 late in the second period when he notched an unassisted goal. The score came at the 16:30 mark. The disc was deflected into the net when it glanced from the skate of Fort Wayne's Vic Demarco.

It was Prince's seventh goal in his last seven IHL games. He also added one Saturday night at Cleveland while being given a test by the big town Barons.

The Barons controlled play in the third period but were unable to tie the score. Walmsley batted out 11 Marion shots in scrambles in front of the goal. Crowdie was forced to protect the goal only five times during the closing period.

Ken Schultz narrowly missed knotting the score at the start of the final period. His shot after two minutes of play got past a lunge by Walmsley but bounced away from the goal instead of in after striking the pipe at the side of the net.

The Komets' Kastelic was injured in the first period when his glasses were broken in a scramble against the boards. He was helped from the floor but returned to the game in the second period after minor repairs.

Fight Erupts

Late in the first period, the Barons' Phil Vitale and Monty Montigny locked horns in a tussle against the boards. The two crashed into the boards and came away fighting. Ed Sabe, linesman grabbed Vitale around the neck in an effort to part the two before Coach Ott Heller, also in a fighting mood, entered the fray. When order was restored, Vitale was banished to the penalty box for two minutes for roughing and Montigny drew a pair of two minute penalties, one for elbowing and one for roughing.

The Barons face four games this week in their bid to regain second place. Wednesday night they entertain the Milwaukee Chiefs before traveling to Louisville Thursday night. Saturday they travel to Toledo and on Sunday will be home for a return match with the Mercurys.

Moore Ordered To Defend Title

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Boxing Assn. has ordered Archie Moore, world lightweight champion, to defend his title against Harold Johnson by Christmas Eve.

If not, the NBA Executive Committee decided Saturday, it will take Moore's title away from him. In other actions, the association ruled:

1. Freddie Beshore and Irish Bob Murphy, two onetime boxing luminaries who have been beaten severely of late, are retired "for the good of boxing."

2. Kid Gavilan, the welterweight champion, automatically surrenders his title if he wins the midweight championship.

3. If Gavilan elects to stay among the welters, he must make his next title defense against Carmen Basilio, who lost a disputed decision to Gavilan earlier this year.

4. Percy Bassett, interim featherweight champion, must defend his crown against either Willie Pep or Red Top Davis.

Dutch Harrison Wins

FT. JACKSON, S. C. (AP)—E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Ardmore, Okla., won the first annual $10,000 annual Columbia Open golf tournament here yesterday with a 14 under par 274. Ed Furgol of St. Louis was second with 278.

T. D. MAKER By Alan Maver

NEIL WORDEN, NOTRE DAME FULLBACK, WILL SET A MODERN RECORD FOR THE SCHOOL IF HE LEADS THE IRISH IN SCORING AGAIN—IT WOULD BE THE 3RD TIME IN A ROW.

BUT EVEN IF HE DOESN'T BEAT OUT HIS TALENTED BACKFIELD MATE THIS SEASON, HE'S SET ANOTHER MODERN IRISH RECORD BY SCORING 23 TOUCHDOWNS IN ONLY 2 1/2 YEARS OF PLAY.

MARION'S GORDIE VEJPRAVA is pinned against the boards in Sunday's game against Fort Wayne at the Coliseum. Vejprava and an unidentified Komets went in to dig the disc off the boards. Coach Jack Timmins (12) and Orrin Gould along with Marion's Jerry Prince (11) come up to help freeze it. The play resulted in a faceoff. The Komets won the game 3-2.

Bevo Attempts To Still Critics As Play Opens

NEW YORK (AP)—The college basketball season swings into high gear this week with most of the top teams in the country set to start the four-month grind that will lead to sectional and national titles.

But the team that will attract the most attention won't be looking for any championship. Rather its top star will be out to prove himself. Bevo Francis, who set an all-time scoring record last year only to have it wiped out because many of his team's opponents were not four-year colleges, brings his Rio Grande club into Madison Square Garden Thursday for a game against Adelphi College.

Rio Grande already has played one game—against Erie Teachers at Buffalo, N. Y., last week. The gigantic Bevo scored 64 points, about average for him, judging by past performances.

Adelphi, from Garden City, N. Y., was supposed to have one of the stronger small college teams around New York but it was beaten in its opener last week by Fairfield, Conn., 70-59.

This will be the opening game of the inaugural program of the Garden's 20th season of basketball. St. John's will meet Lafayette in the feature.

The Iron Dukes of Duquesne, who will be a disappointment if they don't win the national championship with their veteran-packed team, begin operations Saturday against Geneva.

Indiana, the NCAA titlist, which won 17 Big Ten games in a row last season, also opens Saturday against the University of Cincinnati. Another team with high hopes of bounding back into the limelight, Kentucky, plays Temple Saturday in its opener.

The University of California, reputedly "loaded," and itching to take the Pacific Coast Conference title won last year by Washington, has three games. The Golden Bears open against San Francisco tomorrow, then play the alumni Friday and St. Mary's Saturday.

There was scattered action last Saturday among the upper crust. In fact there was even one upset of major proportions. Hofstra of Hempstead, N. Y., defeated Yale 80-78, holding off a fierce Eli rally that netted 54 points in the second half.

Dayton, one of the preseason choices to make a run for the Eastern title, warmed up by routing Canisius 79-63, and Western Kentucky, one of the top teams in the South, recorded an 86-74 victory over Kentucky Wesleyan.

Tag Event Booked For Armory Slate

Ricky Waldo and the Black Panther will team up against Sandro Fozo and Dutch Schultz in the main event of the Thursday night wrestling card at the armory. Promoter Les Fishbaugh announced today.

The bout will be for two out of three falls over a 60-minute time limit. Scotty Williams and Mike McGee will also lock horns in a 60-minute bout for two out of three falls.

The Masked Marvel, after straightening out passport troubles at the Mexican border, will be here to meet Jim Lewis, the wrestling state highway patrolmen, in the 30-minute opener at 8:30.

When Ted Williams of the Red Sox hit a home run into the upper deck at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium on Aug. 30 it marked the first time it had been done that season. Ted hit one in the same spot the next day.

Green Camp Elevator, Meyers Pumps Win 'Y' Tourney Games

Two games were staged in the YMCA Invitational Basketball when Meyers Pumps of Ashland defeated the Bucyrus VFW and Green Camp Elevator edged the UAW-CIO 52-51.

The Pythian Drugs failed to appear Saturday because of a schedule change. They will meet the Ashley Merchants this evening at 9 o'clock. The G. I. Post-Marion Industries game has been moved to Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Calvary Evangelical will meet the Peoples Stores of Delaware at 7 p.m. today and Bird McGinnis and Wesley will tangle at 8.

Meyers Pumps demonstrated a fast break offense and terrific marksmanship as they moved away in the second half to an 81-64 verdict over the Bucyrus VFW. The winners were one point behind at half time before moving to the front in the third quarter and then racing to a wide victory margin in the final period.

Harris led the Meyers five with 21 points while Striker of Bucyrus had a total of 22 for the losers. Green Camp Elevator, Y Independent League champs, edged the UAW-CIO from Marion Industries in an exciting contest.

The UAW crew rolled to a 10-0 lead before Green Camp could find the range from the field. Trailing by 10 points throughout most of the game and by nine as the clock headed into the final three minutes the winners staged a wild rally which netted them the winning bucket with three seconds remaining as Vern Hensel connected from the corner. Bob Weston lead the winners with 22 points while R. Richie had fourteen for the UAW.

The first win came in the afternoon over the Mansfield Reformatory 75-71. The other game Saturday night in the pre-season tournament at the YMCA over UAW-CIO.

At Mansfield, the Elevator crew rolled up a 20-15 lead in the first period but the Reformatory team then took over to hold a 12-point edge at the start of the final period. The Elevator marksmen pumped through 24 points during the last period while holding the foe to eight.

Ron Craycraft dumped in 16 points and Norm Withrow collected 15 to spark the Green Camp attack. Hale with 14 and Anderson and Benton with 12 were the big guns for the losers.

Following the game, the Elevator team was guests of the Reformatory for dinner.

Next action for Green Camp will be Wednesday night in the Y tourney. On Saturday, Dec. 12, they will entertain the House of David team at the Green Camp High School gym. On the same card, the Pythian Drugs of Columbus will meet a team made up of Marion County high school coaches. The games are being sponsored by Green Camp's recently-organized Lions Club.

Welter weights Slate Action in Ring Warfare

NEW YORK (AP)—Some 20 years ago the featherweight (126 pounds) and lightweight (135 pounds) divisions used to be the most active in boxing. We're growing 'em bigger now. Today it's the welterweights (147) and middleweights (160) who provide most of the action.

Take this week's national boxing program for example. Two of the coast to coast television boxing shows headline middles and the third one features welters. Welterweights are featured in six main events across the country and middleweights in five.

Three members of the welter division's first 10 ply their trade during the week. Johnny Saxton, No. 3 contender from Philadelphia, goes against Herman McCray of Philadelphia at Fall River, Mass., Thursday. The same night in Los Angeles, Art Aragon, No. 7 from Los Angeles, mixes with Danny (Bang Bang) Womber of Chicago. Ramon Fuentes, another Los Angeles fighter who holds the No. 6 ranking, takes on Mario Trigo of Mexico City, in Los Angeles tomorrow.

Phil Kim of Hawaii and Carmine Fiore of Brooklyn, a pair of unranked but free swinging welters, collide in Washington's Arena in the Saturday night television top-per. ABC telecasts it coast to coast starting at 9 p.m., EST.

Garth Panter, No. 10 middleweight contender from Salt Lake City, subs for injured Ernie Durando against Boston's Norman Hayes in the Detroit Olympia Wednesday. CBS will telecast the 10 p.m., EST, scrap.

Joe Giambra, No. 5 middleweight from Buffalo, N. Y., makes his debut as a Madison Square Garden main eventer Friday night with handsome Jimmy Herring of New York providing the opposition. The bout will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC) starting at 10 p.m., EST.

Lightweights Freddie (Babe) Herman of Los Angeles and Brian Kelly of Niagara Falls, Ont., clash tonight in a 10 rounder at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena. Dumont will telecast the bout to some parts of the country starting at 10 p.m., EST.

College Grid Squads End Campaign in Healthy State

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—There was nothing but memories of college football, 1953 version, today and despite the dark warnings of most of the coaches, the game was still in a healthy state.

Before the start of the season, the overwhelming majority of the mentors viewed the return to one-plateau rule with alarm—even despair. But the teams that everyone thought would stay on top stayed there and the teams that showed nothing before the campaign did just as expected.

In fact, a quick look at the four major New Year's Day bowls will attest to the lack of form reversal. Here's how they line up: Rose—Michigan State vs. UCLA. Orange—Maryland vs. Oklahoma. Cotton—Rice vs. Alabama. Sugar—Georgia Tech vs. West Virginia.

Michigan State, in its freshman year in the Big Ten, was the favorite. True, it had its 28-game winning streak broken, but that was caused more by the law of averages than any changes in the rules. It finished in a tie with Illinois for the championship, but was voted the bowl bid by the athletic directors.

UCLA was the choice to win the Pacific Coast Conference title and win it did although it experienced some anxious moments.

Maryland was the favorite in the Atlantic Coast Conference as was Oklahoma in the Big Seven. Rice was one of the better teams in the Southwest loop according to pre-season reports and Alabama was tabbed as one of the top teams in the South.

Georgia Tech saw its 31-game defeatless skein go by the boards, at the hands of Notre Dame, but it still was a dominant power, and West Virginia was rated the Southern Conference top-notch.

Notre Dame was rated No. 1 team in the country in the Associated Press' preseason poll and stayed right there until tied by Iowa a week ago. Nor was that reversal the result of the switch to one-plateau. Notre Dame, in fact, was in a better position than most schools because many of its players, including backfield ace Johnny Lattner, performed on both offense and defense last year.

So the coaches' imagined troubles never did materialize. Generally, they were wary to try pass plays and about one-fifth less passing was seen this season.

After all the confusion revolving around the bowls, the Orange Bowl seems to have come up with the game of the day in Maryland, the only major undefeated and untied team in the country, and Oklahoma, whipped only by Notre Dame.

The Cotton Bowl opponents were not decided until the last moment. Rice finished in a tie with Texas for the Southwest Conference title by beating Baylor 41-19, but the Longhorns bowed out because the Owls had beaten them earlier in the year.

Alabama got the bid Saturday night by virtue of winning the Southeastern Conference title by beating Auburn 10-7, while Mississippi State was using Mississippi 7-7.

The Executive Committee of the National Boxing Assn. gave final approval to the new scoring system Saturday and decided to print up sample scorecards for TV fans.

The NBA controls fighting in 47 states. Only New York will have a different scoring system after the first of the year.

Under the unified system, the winner of a round gets 10 points. The loser gets anywhere from 1 to 9. If the round is even, score 10 points for each fighter.

There are certain gimmicks. If the referee detects a foul, he subtracts a point and instructs the two judges to do likewise. But the man who does the fouling still gets 10 points if he wins the round. The point is subtracted from the cumulative score.

The Executive Committee decided to test another scoring device. In selected fights, officials will permit the referee to be the sole judge of the effectiveness of a knockdown.

NBA Approves Uniform Fight Judging Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Starting Jan. 1, you'll be able to score those television fights just like the experts—but it might be wise to keep a slide rule handy.

Browns Whip Cards To Nail Eighth Divisional Title

Fourth-Quarter Spurt Enough For 27-16 Win

By FRITZ HOWELL

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns held their eighth straight divisional professional football championship today—the longest title string in pigskin play-for-pay history.

Paul Brown, talented tutor of the lakefront powerhouse, won four pennants in the now defunct All-America Conference, and now has won the Eastern Division crown in the National League four times in as many tries.

Only the Chicago Bears, in the 1940-43 era, won their sectional title four times in a stretch.

The Browns wrapped it up yesterday with a 27-16 victory over the Chicago Cardinals as the season's smallest crowd here, 24,499, shivered and cheered. The game was closer than the score indicates, for the Cards, who have lost 9 and tied 1, were out front 14-13 with 5 minutes and 10 seconds to go.

But a couple of lucky breaks, some great pitching by quarterback Otto Graham, an intentional safety which got the back-to-the-wall Browns out of danger, and Lou Groza's 19th field goal of the season gave the Clevelanders a 17-point last period and their 10th straight conquest.

Groza, who booted field goals from the 37 and 30 yard lines, along with three conversions, stayed out front in league scoring with 85 points. His 19 field goals for the year tied the season record he set in 1952, and his 61 three-pointers in the last 43 games erased the league record of 60 set in 8 seasons by Bob Waterfield, late of Los Angeles.

The big Martins Ferry tackle has scored in the last 43 games, another National League record. Don Hutson held the old mark of 41.

Brown, relaxed in the dressing room after the game, grinned and said:

"Now that it's in the bag, we can give our injured players a chance to recuperate and get ready for the championship game. We can relax against the Giants and Eagles in our last two regular games."

But, with Brown's intense desire to win a well-known fact, the chances are there will be little letup.

Brown credited a great catch by steel-footed Ray Renfro for winning yesterday's contest—and it was a thing of beauty. It went for 24 yards and set up the winning touchdown as the Browns stormed 84 yards in 9 plays, with Renfro sweeping end for the last 8 yards.

Others, however, credited a pass-interference penalty against the Cards as the turning point. That came midway in the final period, with Chicago leading 14-13, and the Browns mixed up in a third-down-and-16-yards-to-go situation back on their own 23.

The interference on the Browns' 23 gave them a first down, eliminating a punt necessity. The Clevelanders moved right on to score and take a 20-14 edge. They widened their lead on Tommy James' 6-point run in the last 10 seconds when he went 37 yards with a Cardinal fumble.

Between the last 2 Brown touchdowns the Clevelanders were pinned on their own 26 by Jack Simmons' 65-yard punt. They failed to gain, and Graham faded into the end zone on fourth down and took an intentional safety. It cut the Browns' edge to 20-16, but gave them a free kick from their 20.

The Browns went out front in the second quarter on a 12-play, 80-yard march climaxed by fullback Chick Jagade's 14-yard surge through center. A 67-yard romp into the end zone by Chicago's Johnny Olszewski was nullified by a back-in-motion penalty, but the Browns missed out, too, when Billy Reynolds muffed a perfect 32-yard pass in the end zone. Groza booted his 37-yard field goal and the Browns led 10-0 at the half.

Graham completed 19 of 28 passes for 276 yards, boosting his league-leading total to 148 completions in 230 attempts for 2,355 yards.

49ers Remain In Flag Chase, Sink Baltimore

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Browns can sit back without a worry and wait for the Western Conference to decide on their opponent in the National Football League championship game Dec. 27.

The Browns, a four-time champion in the defunct All-American Conference, wrapped up their fourth straight divisional title in the NFL yesterday with a 27-16 victory over the winless Chicago Cardinals. It was the 10th straight win without a defeat for the Paul Brown-coached eleven. They'll meet the New York Giants in Cleveland Sunday and wind up the season Dec. 13 in Philadelphia against the Eagles.

Detroit's Lions, conqueror of the Browns in last year's title game, head the Western Conference by only a one-game margin over the San Francisco 49ers. The Lions (8-2) cemented their position on Thanksgiving Day by whipping the Green Bay Packers.

But yesterday the 49ers stayed within striking distance with a 38-21 decision over Baltimore's Colts. The day's activities, however, virtually eliminated Los Angeles' chances since the Rams were surprised by the Chicago Bears 24-21.

The Giants, displaying a real offensive for the first time this season, stopped the Philadelphia Eagles' winning streak at six games 37-28 and Washington beat Pittsburgh 17-9 in other games.

Up until the last five minutes it looked as if the Browns would need the Giants' victory over the second-place Eagles to wrap up the Eastern Conference title. The Cardinals, who have only a tie to show for 10 games, were leading 14-13.

Then the Browns cashed in on two breaks for touchdowns. The first came on a pass interference that gave the Browns a first down on their 27. Otto Graham completed three passes for 55 yards and Ray Renfro circled right end for the score. After Graham had taken a deliberate safety, Tommy James of Cleveland recovered a Jimmy Roof fumble and raced 37 yards for the final tally.

Maryland Only Power Among Unbeaten, Untied

NEW YORK (AP)—Nineteen colleges went through their 1953 football schedules unbeaten and untied, but No. 1 ranked Maryland was the only major school to accomplish the feat.

Two of the 19-Prairie View of Texas and Florida A&M meet in the Orange Blossom Bowl at Miami Saturday. And another, Iowa Wesleyan, lost in the Corn Bowl to Western Illinois State Thursday after completing its regular schedule with nine victories.

Bucyrus Phone Rates Will Rise in December

BUCYRUS — When the 5,247 telephone subscribers in Bucyrus and Chaffield receive their December bills, they will find that the charges have been increased an average of 20 to 25 per cent.

An annual rate increase of $68,906 a year has been approved for the Bucyrus Telephone Co., which also operates the Chaffield exchange by the Ohio Public Utilities Commission.

A 50 per cent increase will be faced by hundreds of home telephone users as the rate on the five party line residential service, which comprises the bulk of the residential phones, has been raised from $2.50 to $3.75.

In granting the increase, the utilities commissions pointed out that the company has installed $428,776 worth of new equipment and retired old equipment, valued at $184,976, since 1950. The increase is the second approved since August, 1951, when the firm was granted an annual rate increase of $28,573.

Vermont was first occupied by white men in 1690, and the first permanent settlement was made in Brattleboro in 1774.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

Last week, a small announcement buried at the bottom of Ohio sport pages told of the retirement of J. W. Griffin as basketball coach at Bliss College.

Wes Griffin has quit the game because he no longer has the time to devote to the sport. A few weeks ago he was named vice president of the Columbus business school and ultimately will take over the presidency.

Sports fans here remember Wes' exploits when he was running wild as a member of athletic teams at Harding High School. He played both football and basketball. After completing his high school career, Griffin performed with Marion's best-known cage squad, the Isaly Dairy team, and also with Dick Brun's Bears on the baseball diamond. In 1923, he hurled the Epworth Methodist Church team of the Church League to Marion's first softball title.

In the fall of 1924, Wes, along with his closest friend, Del Noble, enrolled at Bliss College where he was a standout cage performer for three seasons. During his career there Bliss copped a pair of Central Ohio Amateur championships and two Ohio non-conference titles. "Griff" was named to a forward spot on 1925 All-Ohio Tournament team when he set a tourney mark with 87 points in six games.

Following his graduation from Bliss, Wes spent a year in the accounting business but then returned to his first love when he took over as cage coach at Bliss. He has remained there since that time.

Griffin's climb from the Marion sandlots is a Frank Merriwell type story. It's the story of an American boy's desire for an education and his drive toward that goal.

He worked his way through Bliss College with various jobs around Columbus and has remained to become its administrative head. That promotion, however, has driven him right out of his chosen profession. He no longer has time to devote to coaching basketball.

Cincinnati Union Defies Judge, Tabulates Vote

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ignoring a court injunction, Local 100 of the AFL teamsters union has counted the ballots in a disputed election. However, J. W. Brown, the union's general counsel, said no decision had been reached on certifying the election results tomorrow.

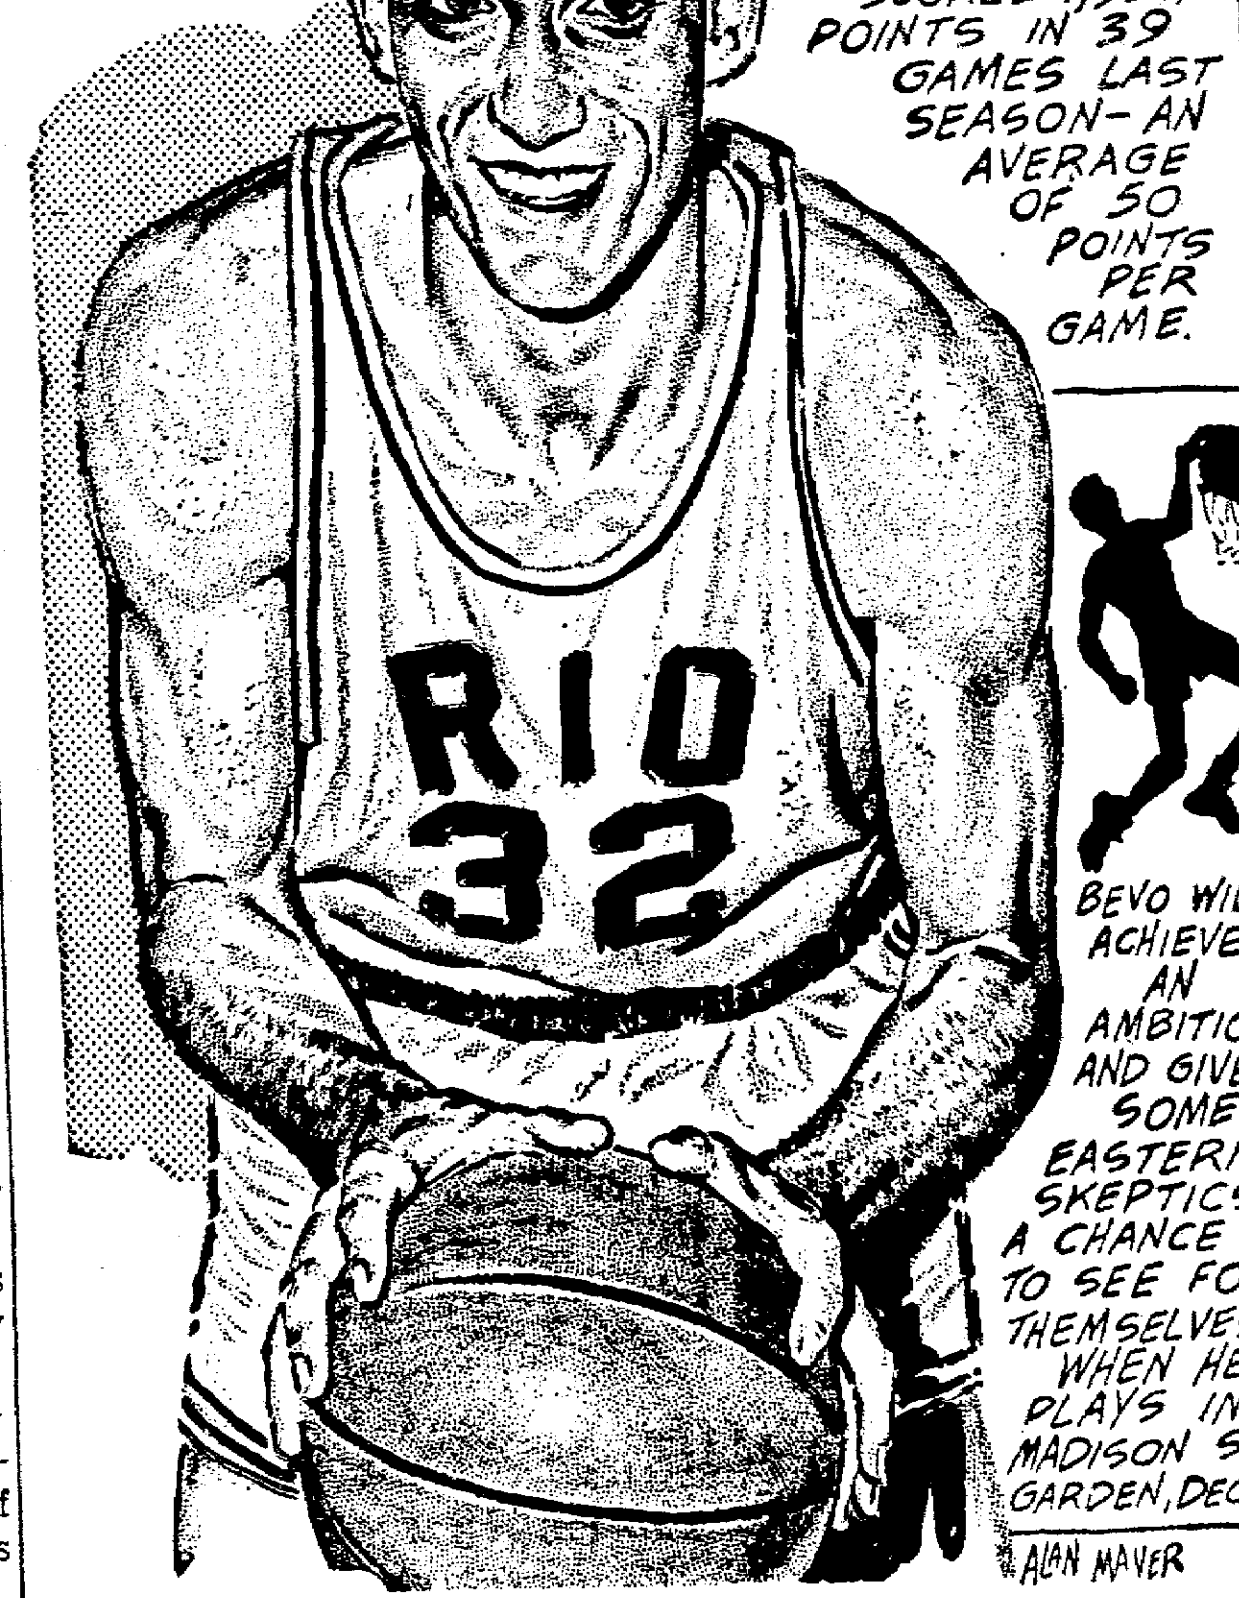

Judge Fred B. Cramer issued an injunction Saturday in Hamilton against counting the votes and certifying the results.

A slate of members opposed to the present officers filed injunction suits in Hamilton County and Butler County courts. They said the election procedure was improper.

There was no indication how the 6,500 members voted.

Ashley Water Cost Will Rise Tuesday

Special to The Star

ASHLEY — Water rates here will be raised tomorrow to pay for "Operation Water Haul" which was carried on for two months during the critical water shortage.

Mayor Russell Nolting said that after investigating the situation the Council and water board decided in a joint meeting to raise the rates, the only possible solution to the present financial dilemma.

"Operation water haul" was carried on in a 24-hour basis. Gasoline and oil expenses for the four trucks in operation amounted to about $500 per week. Village funds gave out several weeks ago.

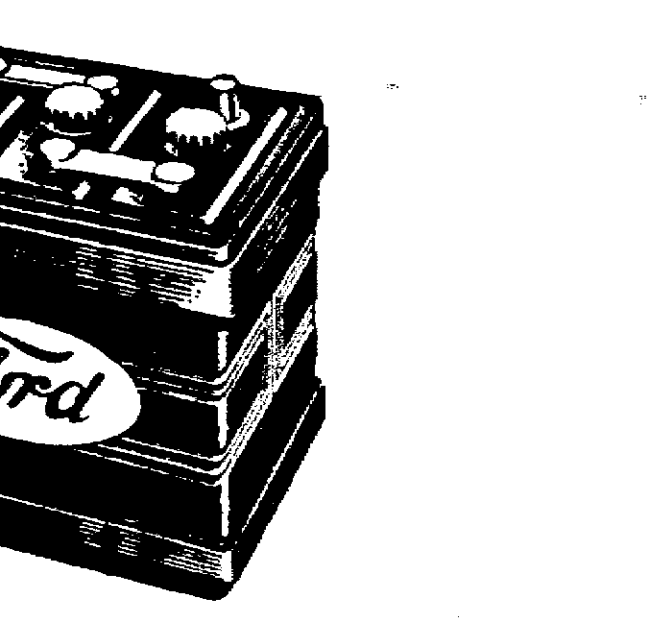

New emergency rates effective Tuesday are $4 minimum for 2,000 gallons of water per month, plus $2 extra for each 1,000 gallons thereafter. Present rates are $6.50 for 10,000 gallons. New permanent rates will be decided after the present emergency has passed.

Patrol Lists Two Morrow Auto Mishaps

Two accidents were reported over the weekend in Morrow County by state patrolmen from the Marion post. One was listed as a hit-skip after the driver of one car failed to stop, following a collision.

A car driven by Clarence A. Rugg, 36, of Columbus received minor damage when sideswiped on U. S. Route 42 Sunday at 4:45 a.m. about three miles south of Mt. Gilead.

Rugg told patrolmen he was northbound when another car sideswiped him on the highway. The other car did not stop, and Rugg was unable to obtain a license number or other means of identification.

At 6 p.m. Sunday, another accident happened on U. S. Route 42. This one was four miles north of Mt. Gilead. Cars driven by Ernest Jones, 36, of near Mt. Gilead and Virgil Hobbs, 41, of Lorain, were moderately damaged as both were headed south.

Patrol reports indicate the Hobbs car had slowed down behind a lane of traffic, and Jones was unable to slow enough, skidding into the rear of Hobbs' car.

The front end of Jones' car and the rear of Hobbs' car were moderately damaged. Jones was cited to appear before Justice of the Peace R. R. Bennington of Mt. Gilead to answer a charge of unsafe operation.

Fast Thinking Onlooker Rescues 110 on Ski Lift

RENO (AP)—A quick-thinking bystander who jammed the gears of a runaway ski lift saved 110 persons from serious injury or death on the rugged slopes of Slide Mountain.

The newly opened, 3,000-foot chair lift, loaded with view-seeking tourists, went haywire shortly after its suspended double chairs began swinging down the mountain last night. It was halted by an unidentified bystander who jammed a 2x4 timber into the gears.

Most of the riders escaped by sliding down ropes and descending the barren, rocky mountain on foot.

VALUATION INCREASES

MT. GILEAD — Morrow County valuation of real, personal and utility properties increased over a million dollars in the past year, according to County Auditor Harold Taylor. Total valuation is over thirty million in 1953 compared with twenty-nine million the previous year.

CONTRIBUTIONS UP

NEW YORK (AP)—Thirteen million persons, more than ever before, contributed to the 1952 Christmas seal sale of the National Tuberculosis Assn. Contributions totaled $23,238,148.

BREAK-IN TRY REPORTED

An attempted break-in at his clothing store in Prospect some time Saturday night was reported by Harry Lauer to the Marion County sheriff's office. He told investigating deputies that entry had been attempted by removing several hooks on a rear door. This was the second attempt in one week, the report said. First attempt was Thursday night.

Ring Found in Sewers Proves To Be Valuable

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UP) — Eight years ago city employee James McLendon gave his wife a ring he found while cleaning out the city sewage system.

His wife, Victoria, wore it until the band broke recently. When she took it to a jeweler for repairs he looked at the ring and called police. The diamond and platinum ornament was worth at least $1,000 he said.

Detective Lieut. R. A. Strickland checked Mrs. McLendon's story and told her to keep the ring. "Looks like her old man finally hit the jackpot," he said.
